FRENCH CABINET ASKS POINCARE, ILL, TO STAY AT HELM OF COUNTRY

Paris Believes Premier Will Accede to This Arrangement.

STATESMAN SUFFERS FROM BLADDER ULCER

Necessity of Operation Mentioned in His Letter.

STRENGTH DEPLETED BY DEBATES ON DEBTS

Briand Seen as Successor if His Resignation Be Insisted Upon.

Paris, July 26 (A.P.).—Premier Raymond Poincare, suffering serious ill health and faced with the necessity of an operation, tonight informed his cabinet of his desire to be relieved of his duties as head of the government.

They decided to ask him to remain despite his incapacity and sent Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Minister of Justice Louis Barthou to his bedside to make this request. Some circles believed the premier would accede to this view. If he persists in his determination to be relieved of all political burdens, it was thought most likely that M. Briand would be entrusted with the formation of a new government.

Inasmuch as the letter of resignation has not yet gone to President Doumergue, cabinet members were hopeful their leader might consent to remain. Under the constitution of France, the minister of justice can act as premier during an incapacity of the first minister. In view of the overwhelming interest of Foreign Minister Briand in the reparations settlement question, which is soon to come before the governments at a conference in the Hague, it was thought that he jointly with M. Barthou, might carry on the duties of M. Poincare.

Faces Operation.

In circles close to the premier it was said tonight that his malady is ulcer of the bladder. In his letter to the cabinet, Poincare said he was faced with the necessity of an operation which would incapacitate him for at least three months. It was deduced from this that his physicians had rejected an earlier idea that the ulcer could be cauterized and removed by insertion of a catheter.

The strength of the premier was greatly depleted by the long strain of defending the settlements of war debts made with Great Britain and the United States and in seeking authorization for ratification in the Chamber of Deputies. He had spoken a total of more than 30 hours when he was finally forced to his bed and left his associates to carry on the battle to a successful conclusion in both Houses of Parliament.

Even should M. Poincare remain at the head of the government in name there appeared to be little likelihood he could resume active political work for months. His final resignation was therefore looked upon as only a matter of time.

Another extraordinary session of the cabinet was called for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. At that time it was expected the cabinet delegation would report the final word of the leader and the body would then decide whether to follow his example in a body to clear the decks for a new government.

Action Anticipated.

The action of the premier had been generally anticipated in view of his serious illness of the last week growing out of the overstrain of long parliamentary debates. Only a few hours befor. the cabinet met tonight the Senate had given final parliamentary approval to both debt accords with the United States and Great Britain, on which Premier Poincare had staked his entire political fortunes.

So generally was the situation known that during the evening there were a number of premature reports that the resignation of the premier had already been handed in. It was not, however, until the cabinet emerged from its session just before 11 p. m. (5 p. m. Eastern standard time) that the official announcement was made.

Keyport, N. J., July 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Under the provision of a New Jersey law which permits a female to kill in defense of her person, Catherine Crawford, 12, who shot her father, George H. Crawford, in the bedroom of their home here last Friday was exonerated of blame today.

Britain Will Oppose Young Plan Debt Cut

Lloyd George's Attack Followed by Notice From Snowden.

London, July 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A bitter attack upon the Young reparations plan by David Lloyd George in the House of Commons today brought from Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, the statement that "while in my position it is extremely difficult to choose my words, I am in agreement with what Mr. Lloyd George has said."

Snowden practically served notice that at the coming international conference he will not accept the cut in British reparations percentages made by the experts "at the instance of the American chairman."

The impression made by Snowden's speech, of remarkable frankness coming from the chancellor of the exchequer, was that he desires the world to believe that Britain will not ratify the plan as it stands.

Lloyd George declared the Young plan is "simply incredible" in its unfairness to Britain. He said he could not understand how any

FRANCE COMPLETES DEBT PLAN ASSENT

Congress Ratification Held Probable as Debtor Sanctions Terms.

BORAH GIVES APPROVAL

(Associated Press.)

Congressional ratification of the $4,025,000,000 French war-debt settlement will be undertaken at the extra session and its approval is anticipated.

Washington officials yesterday received the news of ratification of the debt settlement by the French Senate with relief but without surprise As soon as President Doumergue of France signs the Mellon-Berenger agreement President Hoover is expected to authorize a postponement of the $400,000,000 French war supplies debt payment due August 1.

The settlement provides for the payment of this war supplies debt and Congress adopted a resolution authorizing the postponement in the maturity date of this loan in the event France ratified the general agreement before August 1. That resolution was not formally signed, but the administration regards its adoption by both the Senate and House as sufficient authority for the President to act.

Commenting on the ratification of the debt settlement by France, Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee declared "it was in the best interest of France to approve it and it will be a help to her and the whole world."

Although he opposed the other debt settlement between this country and her allies, Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee expressed the view last night that congressional approval would be given the agreement.

France has waited three years to ratify the settlement worked out by the American debt commission, headed by Secretary Mellon, with the French

UTILITIES EXPERT'S AID HELD NEEDLESS

Taliaferro Opposes Engaging Specialist to Fill Hart Vacancy.

CLAYTON PRESSES FIGHT

A legal expert in public utilities matters will not be selected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ringgold Hart as principal assistant corporation counsel of the District, it was made clear yesterday by Commissioner Sidney F. Taliaferro, following a conference with William McK. Clayton, of the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Clayton called on Taliaferro in the District Building and stressed what he termed the vital importance of providing the Utilities Commission with expert legal services in the corporation counsel's office so that it could match the expert counsel employed by the utilities companies in their court battles.

Taliaferro flatly rejected the suggestion, although he thanked Clayton for his public interest in bringing the subject to his attention.

"The legal business of the District government as a whole demands the services of a lawyer of skill and wide experience in municipal law and prohibits the appointment of a utilities law specialist to the post of principal assistant corporation counsel," Commissioner Taliaferro said after his conference with Clayton.

"In the absence of Mr. Bride, the corporation counsel, the principal assistant corporation counsel would have to assume his duties and it would not, in my opinion, be a good thing to have in such an office a man whose training and viewpoint are those of a specialist in utility matters.

"It isn't as if the utilities situation were a desperate one. Mr. Bride and Robert E. Lynch, assistant corporation counsel assigned to utilities work by Mr. Bride, have won every case we have had in the courts in the last year or two. In addition to that there

UNIFORM RULE FOR LEFT TURN TRAILS IN VOTE

First Returns in Post Referendum Favor Rotary Method.

COMBINED BALLOTS FOR CHANGE AHEAD

Many Partisans Record Their Preference in Lengthy Letters.

CITIZENS' PRESIDENT DENIES A. A. A. CLAIM

Traffic Director's Statement Assails Model Ordinance Method as Obsolete.

HARLAND LEADS

Here are the results of the first day's voting in The Washington Post's poll to determine just what sort of a left turn local motorists want:

| Turn No. 1 | Turn No. 2 | Turn No. 3 |
|---|---|---|
| 266 | 47 | 251 |

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Traffic Director William H. Harland wins the first round in The Post's referendum on Washington's preference as to left turn methods.

At the conclusion of the first 36 hours of balloting, in which partisans of all three methods of making left turns rushed to the support of their preference, the rotary turn as made at present led the list with a total of 266 votes. Turn No. 3—the Hoover Code turn which is made from the center of the street, begun and completed on the green light ahead—was only a stride behind, however, with 251 proclaiming its superiority. Turn No. 2, the compromise method which is the present left turn save that it is made from the middle of the thoroughfare instead of the right, was a badly beaten third with only 47 votes.

Analysis of the 564 votes which represented the first enthusiastic response to the opportunity to speak on the left turn issue shows, however, that a majority of those voting prefer to make their turns from the center rather than the right of the intersection. The combined votes for turns Nos. 2 and 3 as against the present rotary turn from the right was 298 to 266.

The first day's avalanche of ballots showed clearly that Washington is considerably agitated by the left turn issue and that it is not inclined to mask its opinion under anonymity in any sense. Of the 564 votes cast until noon yesterday, in only two instances were signatures and addresses lacking on the ballot.

Many State Views in Letters.

While Washingtonians were X-ing their ballots, there were other developments in the vigorous but friendly showdown campaign on the subject. Among these were:

Violent partisans of various methods, not content with merely voting, expressed their opinions vigorously and lengthily in letters accompanying their ballots.

The Traffic Office issued a statement declaring its interest in the cause of uniformity but defending the present turn on the ground of its safety.

Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations, speaking for the organization, declared it was on record as opposing a change in the regulation at present.

The American Automobile Association conducted a poll among 386 of its 24,000 members which revealed that the great majority were opposed to the present turn.

Many of The Post's ballots and accompanying letters stated that the

ROBIN'S CREW UP 325 HOURS; SHIP HUMS ON

Plane Passed Its Second Week in Air Today; Fliers Cheerful.

FRESH SPARK PLUGS ARE PUT INTO MOTOR

Pilots Indicate They Have No Thought of Landing in Near Future.

TEXANS STILL ALOFT AFTER 219TH HOUR

Minnesota Aspirants Drop Note, Saying it Is "Miserable" Among Clouds.

St. Louis, Mo., July 26 (A.P.).—Determined to establish an endurance record that will write aviation history, Dale (Red) Jackson and Forest O'Brine tonight piloted their monoplane St. Louis Robin on toward the end of their fourteenth day in the air.

There was no sign of wearing out on the part of either plane or pilots as hour after hour was added to the world endurance record they broke last Tuesday afternoon, at 8:17 p. m. (central standard time) the fliers had been up 325 hours and had passed the old mark by 77 hours. If they are still up at 7:17 a. m. tomorrow, Jackson and O'Brine will have become the first persons to remain in the air in continuous flight for two weeks.

The motor was given four new spark plugs today and its steady drone as the plane circled leisurely above Lambert-St. Louis Field gave evidence that it was functioning smoothly. A stunting performance they indulged in this morning to break the monotony of the endless circling, and notes they dropped during the day, were convincing that the fliers were still in good spirits and had no thought of landing.

Might Have Circled Earth

It was estimated that the air-cooled Challenger motor had carried its load a distance equivalent to an aerial circumference of the earth.

"We just started where the rest left off," wrote O'Brine in a note dropped for his wife. "We know now a man could stay up here six months and get fat. It is not bad at all.

"We have made up our minds to set a record that will stand longer than any of the other ones," O'Brine continued. "What's the use of getting a record and losing it within a few days or months? When we get through, the rest won't care to start."

The fliers now are earning $112 an hour between them by staying aloft. Thier earnings since breaking the endurance record are nearly $9,000.

Governor Sends Message.

Among messages taken up to the fliers today was a telegram of congratulations from Gov. Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri, and a message from Secretary Christopher, of the contest committee of the National Aeronautic Association from New York, saying:

"Hope you stay up over 400 hours."

Jackson and O'Brine attributed some of their good spirits to their adherence to the rule not to "turn native" in the air. Water is lowered to them in cans from the refueling plane each day and they take sponge baths and always present shaven faces to their "callers." They have quit coffee and drink large quantities of milk. Their meals are carefully prepared.

Fifty-nine contacts have been made for fuel, food and other supplies. Thirty contacts have been made for refueling.

NAVY PROGRAM DELAY OF TWO YEARS IS SEEN IN PRESIDENT'S CLAIM

Hale Declares Executive Is Twisting Intent of Congress.

WORK NOW STARTED MUST GO ON, CLAIM

Interpretation of Clause Is Entirely in Error, Chairman Avers.

ABSENCE OF TREATY TO DISARM IS NOTED

Walsh, Harrison and King Throw Support Behind White House.

Portland, Me., July 26 (A.P.).—Chairman Frederick Hale, of the Senate naval affairs committee, today expressed the opinion that if President Hoover is to follow out the expressed intent of Congress he must proceed with the construction of cruisers already started under authorization of the fifteen-cruiser law.

Senator Hale declared the President's construction of the law was, in his opinion, "entirely in error." The clause which was given at the White House today as the President's authority for this stand refers to the "starting of the ships within the year specified, and not any delay in their construction thereafter," Senator Hale said.

"It was put into the bill to insure that if through any mischance it were found impossible to start the ships within the time specified in the bill the authorization should not lapse, thereby defeating the purpose of the Congress to build the full number of the fifteen cruisers.

Construction Funds Provided.

"The appropriation for the fiscal year," continued Senator Hale, "provided a small sum of money toward the construction of the first five cruisers and a larger sum toward their construction during the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1930.

"The ships were started, their construction was undertaken and the contracts were awarded, and, if the President is to follow out the expressed intent of the Congress, the construction of these ships must be proceeded with, except under a further provision of the act, which reads: 'In the event of an international agreement which the President is requested to encourage for the further consideration of naval armament to which the United States is signatory, the President is hereby authorized and empowered to suspend in whole or in part any of the naval construction authorized under the act.'

No Agreement Exists.

"The President, through such an international agreement, may suspend their construction. No such agreement is in existence at the present time and the United States can not become a signatory to such an agreement without the consent of the Senate.

"As I pointed out yesterday, in the normal process of construction the keels for these vessels can not be laid until much later in the fiscal year. The terms of the act will be carried out if no undue delay is exercised in the work to be done on these ships, which includes the laying of their keels, and if the second batch of cruisers is started before next July.

"Before the normal time for the laying of the keels on these ships there should be ample time to discuss at least whether the building

Hoover of Opinion He Can Wait Until 1931 to Start Building.

DISCLOSURE PLACES AFFAIR IN NEW LIGHT

View on Construction of Cruisers Increases Opposition.

EARLY CONFERENCE ON ARMS CUT FADES

Democrats and Progressives Are Expected to Aid in Congressional Fight.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover yesterday showed determination to fight for his policy of holding up the cruiser-building program when it was made known that he not only considered that he could wait until June 30, 1930, before laying down the keels of the cruisers but that he could wait until June 30, 1931.

The legislation authorizing the building of the fifteen cruisers was cited in support of his contention. The provision under which he is acting reads: "Provided, that if the construction of any vessel herein authorized to be undertaken in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, or 1930, is not undertaken in that fiscal year, such construction may be undertaken in the next succeeding fiscal year."

The disclosure that he considers that he has two years instead of one to hold up the building program accentuated the fight that he will have to face with the big Navy crowd and at the same time detracts from the numerous reports of an early limitation conference. On the belief that Mr. Hoover could not wait longer than June 30 of next year, all sorts of reports had cropped up of early international conferences, it being assumed that Mr. Hoover had to proceed quickly.

Difficulties Are Increased.

Disclosure that he is working on the understanding that he has two years puts the matter in a somewhat different light, and admittedly increases the obstacles that he will have to get over in Congress.

Admittedly, too, the President is rather stretching the intent of Congress in claiming a two-year period in which to act. Of course, the contention that he could wait until just before June 30 of next year before proceeding was stretching this intent somewhat. It was based on the fact that Congress had appropriated funds to begin work on five cruisers this fiscal year. If the work is begun any time before next June 30, the President would indisputably be living up to the action of Congress.

But regardless of the language of the law, there can be no question that Congress wanted actual work begun on five ships before the end of the fiscal year, because it appropriated for them.

Moreover, when Congress meets in regular session in December, one of its first acts under the cruiser law is to appropriate for ten more cruisers. The five appropriated for this year were to have been laid down in 1929. For the fiscal year 1931 there are ten left.

Coalition May Be Aid.

The President, in this Navy fight, his third major one, will have to look to the Democratic-Progressive coalition insofar as the Senate is concerned.

Once before it seemed that circumstances were bringing him closer to this group. That was in the matter of the tariff, but recent indications have been that the regulars will hold him in their camp.

There would seem to be no question about his alliance, however, in

FARM BOARD PLANS SALES CORPORATION

Fifty Grain Men Are Told of New $20,000,000 Enterprise.

WILL AID COOPERATIVES

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—Formation of a farmer-owned sales corporation with paid up capital of $20,000,000, this afternoon was proposed by the Federal Farm Board meeting here with 50 representatives of grain marketing organizations of the Nation.

The corporation, the tentative stages of which were outlined to the grain men present, would be formed for the benefit of all grain cooperatives and would operate in markets of this and other countries. Membership would be the basis of assessment in building up the working capital rather than volume of grain handled.

The organization would sell collectively such portion of the grain crops which are now, or may be, marketed cooperatively at country points.

No agreement was reached at today's meeting, however, and no action was taken concerning the detailed methods whereby such a centralized sales corporation might be set up.

Following the meeting, Alexander Legge, chairman of the board, gave out a statement in which he stressed the length of time necessary for such an organization to be worked out in detail and placed in active operation.

Organization of the proposed corporation along the lines which would make it eligible for loans under the agricultural marketing act was advised by the board. It was also suggested the new corporation, when formed, would be used as an intermediary between the board and all grain-growing cooperatives in financial transactions.

More than 50 representatives of the grain industry attended today's session with the board, the meeting having been restricted to members of the board and those who had been specially invited to attend. Senator S. W. Brookhart, of Iowa, was there early, but left when the meeting proper began, inasmuch as all who had not been especially invited were excluded from the discussion.

Attendants at the meeting represented farm-grain dealer associations handling wheat at country elevators, wheat pools operating within State

Two in Kansas, One in Oklahoma Believed Work of Independent Gangs; Robber Car Driven by Woman; Pursuit by Airplane Fails.

Wichita, Kans., July 26 (A.P.).—Bank robbers raided three banks in Oklahoma and Kansas today and escaped with approximately $19,300. A woman figured in one of the holdups, which were at widely separated points and apparently the work of individual gangs.

At Hooker, Okla., five young men looted the First National Bank of $9,000, taking all the cash on hand.

The Westphalia State Bank in eastern Kansas was robbed of $4,000 by two unmasked men who also took a diamond ring valued at $1,200 from J. C. Stephenson, president of the institution.

A woman dressed in black drove the car in which a trio of robbers escaped after holding up the Peoples State Bank of Wichita and obtaining $6,300.

Airplanes were sent up to fly over the highways leading from the city but failed to find a trace of the car.

W. H. Purdy, a contractor with offices in the rear of the bank was struck over the head by one of the robbers when he was unable to give the combination to the bank's vault. The robbery was staged at noon when only three persons were in the building.

In the Oklahoma holdup, employes of the bank fired at the robbers after they had left the institution. It was not known whether any of the bullets took effect. Driving rapidly eastward out of Hooker, the robbers outdistanced a posse which gave pursuit. The men were described as being between 20 and 30 years afo age. They were dressed in rough clothing.

U. S. Employes Will Seek Periodical Pay Increases

New Bill Is Aimed Also Toward Abolition of Personnel Classification Board—Favoritism in Government Service Rampant, Mrs. Worrell Charges.

Congress at its forthcoming session will be asked once more by the National Federation of Federal Employes to enact legislation providing for "periodical increases in the salary of employes based on the continued satisfactory performance of duty," rather than pay and promotion on the present efficiency system.

This announcement was made last night by Luther Stewart, president of the organization, who declared that the federation at its annual convention in September at Sault Ste Marie, Mich., undoubtedly will indorse a proposed bill which is being drafted now for subsequent introduction in Congress.

"This bill will be somewhat more comprehensive than the Madden bill, after which it was patterned, which had been reported favorably by the House committee on civil service at the last session," he stated.

"Our experience, which is confirmed by leading authorities on personnel management, is that any elaborate system of efficiency or service ratings, such as now are in effect in Government service, is not only extremely difficult to administer equitably, but it is entirely too costly to be practicable.

"The efficiency system is all wrong, and we are against it. We are continuing to receive complaints from our members against the system. Our organization favors a central personnel agency, rather than dealing as at present with several agencies, such as the Personnel Classification Board, the United States Civil Service Commission, the Bureau of the navy fight. There would seem to be little room for compromise there. He will, too, find some of the Democrats of the alliance against him, as the Democrats boast some big navy men. He will, on the other hand, have considerable support from the Democratic side; any loss, in fact, being offset by such administration senators as Capper and Allen, of Kansas, and quite probably Watson, the majority leader.

His opposition will come from the dyed-in-the-wool regulars of the North Atlantic seaboard, from Reed, of Pennsylvania, on up. His experience with the House, heretofore with him, will largely be determined by the attitude of Speaker Longworth, a big navy man.

Conference Seems Year Off.

Undoubtedly, the strength of the opposition will be considerably affected by developments in the next few months, between now and December or January. Despite the hot rumors of impending conferences it is almost wholly unlikely that there could be one out of which an international agreement might come before June at the earliest.

How he will hold the big navy crowd in check through a regular session of Congress until that time will be very interesting to watch. It should be a drama of the first order, his efforts and those of Premier MacDonald synchronizing so well as they are.

In a way the two of them are on probation. Mr. Hoover must go before the country next year with the request for the return of a Republican Congress and Mr. MacDonald has about the same length of time before he must give the opposition parties a vote on the question of confidence.

There is little doubt that the move has added to President Hoover's strength in the inland country and there is reason to believe that he thinks he will be able to make the entire country see the picture as he sees it, thus adding to his strength all around. It would seem to be another "noble experiment" in which fortunes are inextricably linked with the tenure of the MacDonald government.

of them could in any possible way interfere with an agreement for naval parity with Great Britain."

When it became known here that the chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs committee had called the President's authority to delay construction into question, Senator Walsh announced his support of the President's view. As a member of the Naval Affairs committee, Walsh said that if any serious attempt is made to question the President's authority, he will introduce a resolution as soon as the Senate convenes on August 19, granting specific and retroactive authority for the President to take the steps he has outlined. Senator Walsh declared that he is in thorough accord with the President's views.

A similar announcement was made by Senator King. Senator Harrison, another prominent minority leader, is already on record in approbation of the President's step.

Legislative "Mess" Seen by Trumbull

Blanket Bill Validating All Acts in Questions May Be Illegal.

Hartford, Conn., July 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—"Well, that has made a mess of things, hasn't it?" was Gov. John H. Trumbull's comment when he was reached by telephone at Association Island, N. Y., today and informed of the opinion handed down by the Supreme Court of Errors Thursday in the McCook case, by which 1,493 acts of the Connecticut Legislature were ruled to be invalid since they had not been signed by the prevailing governors within the three-day limit prescribed by statute.

And the executive was right. The decision had reached out until it has touched almost every person and business in the State.

To be sure, Gov. Trumbull, in his statement from Association Island, said that he would return Monday, and, if necessary, summon an extraordinary session of the General Assembly to settle the validity of the bills.

But what then? Parliamentarians declare that a blanket bill validating all the acts in question will not be legal. They argue that since the Supreme Court has ruled that bills signed later than three days after the close of a legislative session are not laws, they can not become laws until each has been passed through both houses again and signed within the legal time limit by the chief executive.

HOOVER IN HIS CAMP FOR WEEK-END REST

President Will Consider the Personnel of Military Economies Board.

GUESTS ACCOMPANY HIM

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover left late yesterday for his camp in the Virginia Blue Ridge Mountains where over the week-end he will consider the personnel of the commission to be created in the Army general staff to study what economies may be effected in the military establishment.

He took with him Secretary Good and Assistant Secretaries Hurley and Davison, of the War Department; Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the Army, and Col. Campbell Hodges, aid to the President, who also will participate in the conferences.

Others in the party were Secretary Wilbur, Lieut. Comdr. Joel T. Boone, physician to the President, and George Akerson, Hoover's secretary.

While selection of the general staff commission will be the primary purpose of the conferences, there also will be a general discussion of possible ways and means for reducing Army expenses without impairing national defense.

Before the presidential party left the White House for the 90 miles' automobile ride, there were unofficial suggestions that Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy might be considered for the chairmanship of the commission. Gen. McCoy is not a member of the general staff, but is eligible for appointment and is expected to complete within a month his present special assignment as chairman of the Paraguay-Bolivia commission of conciliation.

Madison, Va., July 26 (A.P.).—President Hoover and his party arrived early tonight at his fishing camp near here to spend the week-end after an uneventful trip from Washington.

The meeting was called by the Workers' International Relief to devise ways and means of aiding a group of textile workers in Carolina, N. C., who are charged with the killing of a policeman during labor disturbances in that city.

Utilities Commission Object of Court Order

Under an order signed yesterday by Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court, the members of the Public Utilities Commission must show cause on August 12 why they should not be required by the court to hold a public hearing on a petition for the "joining" of the street railway systems of the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The court order is based on a suit filed by the Washington Board of Trade Guild, of 16 Jackson place northwest, through E. C. Riegel, its counsel, which the court is asked to issue a writ of mandamus against the commission for its failure to grant a public hearing on the petition, which was filed by the guild on June 6.

Bathing Is Outlawed In Brussels Drought

Brussels, Belgium, July 26 (A.P.).—Until further notice it is against the law for any citizen of Brussels to take a bath.

City officials today strictly prohibited use of water for bathing by householders in Brussels and its suburbs when a persistent drought finally brought the city's water supply dangerously low.

Foreigners and wealthy Belgians were still able to sneak a bath on the sly, for the big hotels were temporarily exempted from the "no baths" regulation, but this concession provoked vehement criticism and was not expected to last.

SEA RACER BREMEN TURNS PROW EAST

Pride of German Marine, With New Speed Record, Has Rooms Filled.

INSPECTED BY 80,000

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—Booked to capacity, the sea racer, Bremen, pride of the German marine, points her slender prow eastward tonight on the trail of a new ocean speed record.

The Bremen arrived on its maiden voyage Monday after a 4 day 17 hour and 42 minute journey from Cherbourg which clipped almost nine hours from the record of the Cunarder Mauretania, which had been queen of the seas for many years.

It is the Mauretania, too, that holds the eastward record from New York to Cherbourg, making the journey in 1924 in 5 days 1 hour 49 minutes. Last January the Mauretania went from New York to Plymouth in 4 days 19 hours and 55 minutes, but the Bremen does not put in at Plymouth.

Since the Bremen arrived Monday 80,000 persons have inspected her at her Brooklyn pier and several thousand passes were issued for the hours before sailing tonight. The new greyhound of the deep was booked to capacity and had a first cabin waiting list of 40 for the first eastward journey before it arrived from Germany, and the waiting list was swelled rapidly during the week.

FRANCE COMPLETES DEBT PLAN ASSENT

debt commission, headed by former Ambassador Berenger. It is the last of the war debt agreements to be consummated.

"France gets very liberal terms," commented Senator Smoot. "England pays us 83 cents on the dollar and France about 50 cents."

The House will have to act first on the debt agreement and it does not reconvene until September 23. Administration leaders plan to push it to immediate consideration. Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader in the Senate, says he will take up the debt accord as soon as the Senate completes the tariff.

French Approval Completed.

Paris (Saturday), July 27 (A.P.).—The Official Journal today promulgates the acts of Parliament approving the American and British debt settlements.

The French Senate last night completed legislative approval of the Melon-Berenger and Churchill-Caillaux foreign debt accords by passing the government ratification bill with a majority of 205 votes. The Chamber of Deputies approved the accords Sunday by the scant margin of eight votes.

Premier Poincare thus witnessed the victory of his long struggle for unconditional ratification of the settlements, but he was not present in person during the debate.

The vote in the Senate which sustained the government by 242 votes to 30, with 40 absentions, came at the close of three days of debate more decorous than that in the chamber last week.

After verification the official ballot was announced as 284 to 29. Under French parliamentary procedure senators may change their ballots after the vote is taken and the changes are announced in verification.

The government's victory had never been in doubt and the debate attracted little public curiosity. As was also expected, the Senate adopted a separate resolution calling upon the government to pay the debts to England and America out of moneys received from Germany under the Young reparations plan. This resolution was adopted by almost unanimous vote, there being only one against.

The chamber, which recessed last night until October after a brief political skirmish between the government and the Socialists, passed a similar separate resolution last Sunday.

TACOMA-TOKYO HOP DELAYED BY WINDS

Magnetic Errors in Compass Corrected by Expert Navigator.

WHEEL REPLACES SKID

Tacoma, Wash., July 26 (A.P.).—Head winds prevailing over most of the great circle route across the north Pacific and which, it is predicted, will continue for 36 hours, made it highly improbable today that Lieut. Harold Bromley would start his Tacoma to Tokyo flight before Sunday or Monday morning. He has definitely decided to start in the early morning of whatever day he leaves.

The big monoplane, City of Tacoma, which Bromley will use was gone over again today by mechanical experts mainly for compass adjustment. Harold Gatty, navigation expert, is supervising compensation of the instruments. He found a number of "bugs" in the relationship of the compasses after the test flight yesterday.

Gatty said the instruments had to be mounted so closely together in the cockpit that they were influencing one another with their magnetic fields and the small permanent magnets had to be "planted" in various places to equalize the magnetic stresses and bring all three instruments into agreement with the great fixed compass painted by engineers on the cement apron of the airport.

Other work to be done on the plane includes replacement of the tail skid with a 10-inch wheel and tire for additional speed on the runway at the takeoff. The problem of taking off is serious, and one of the things the flier was waiting for in addition to good weather over the route was a favorable wind, either from the north or northeast. So far westerly winds have prevailed. A west wind yesterday did not hamper the plane in its test flight as it went up with a light load.

Caraway to Seek Flood Bill Change

Decision of Mitchell on Relief Measure Is Held "Disastrous."

(Associated Press.)

Contending that the decision of Attorney General Mitchell, who ruled that President Hoover had no authority to suspend the Mississippi valley flood relief act, was "disastrous," Senator Caraway (Democrat), Arkansas, said yesterday that Congress must amend the law.

Caraway, who with Senator Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, was one of the leaders in the fight to obtain flood relief, was doubtful when such legislation could be taken up, but he said that if President Hoover would recommend amendment of the law, the Senate would pass a bill as soon as it convenes on August 19. The House, he added, then could take it up when it meets on September 15. Otherwise, he said, he feared that nothing could be done until the regular session.

"When Congress fully understands the situation," he said, "it will amend the law."

Former Head of Gideons Sued by 'Jilted' Woman

$4,500 Asked of Samuel R. Boggs, Millionaire Carpet Manufacturer, Under Alleged Agreement to Pay Girl $500 a Month for Ten Years.

New York, July 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Charging that Samuel R. Boggs, of Philadelphia, millionaire carpet manufacturer and former president of the Gideon society, who had a Bible put in every hotel room in the United States and Canada, jilted her after he had betrayed her under a promise of marriage, Miss Sarah Geisenfeld, a stenographer, filed suit against him today to recover $4,500, alleged to be due under an agreement he made to pay her $500 a month for ten years.

Miss Geisenfeld is 30. Boggs, described as many years her senior, is president of the Model Mills, Inc., carpet and rug manufacturers. He denied Miss Geisenfeld's charges and alleged that she had signed a release, absolving him from any claims she might have against him. Papers will be filed with Supreme Court Justice Riegelmann, July 31, on a motion by Boggs to dismiss Miss Geisenfeld's complaint.

Miss Geisenfeld alleges that she met Boggs at the Hotel La Salle, Chicago, when she was a stenographer there, in January, 1924. He told her, she says, that he was attracted to her and desired to know her "more immediately." He added, she avers, that he was contemplating a divorce.

He told her besides, she says, that he was president of the Gideon Society and was a man of wealth and standing, but that he "felt alone in the world" and desired her companionship.

Later, Miss Geisenfeld relates, he asked her to marry him as soon as he had divorced his wife.

She agreed, she says, and their relations were intimate until January, 1925.

Early in 1925, Miss Geisenfeld alleges, she broke off all relations. In March of that year, her complaint states, she became engaged to Louis Neustadter, an actor.

In May, she charges, Boggs got in touch with Neustadter and disclosed their relations, and that Neustadter refused to marry her.

Afterward, Miss Geisenfeld says, her relations with Boggs were renewed until February, 1926, when no divorce seemed to be forthcoming she went to Philadelphia and learned that Boggs was living with his wife and children and had never instituted divorce proceedings.

When she met Boggs, she alleged, he admitted "he had been lying." If she would refrain from legal proceedings he told her that he would allow her $500 a month for ten years, she says. They signed an agreement, Miss Geisenfeld says, and Boggs paid her the first installment and gave her $400 to cover the expense of her trip from and to Chicago.

That's all he ever paid her, she says. She sues for the balance alleged to be due to date under the pact.

CHINA WAR CLOUDS ARE SEEN GROWING

Russian Workers Voice Demand for Reprisals Against Reported Outrages.

BERLIN ACTS FOR PEACE

Moscow, July 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Manchurian war clouds are getting heavier as the result of reports that China is building trenches in Manchuria and at the same time provoking the Soviets by throwing countless Soviet citizens into jail. It is openly stated here that the Red army will be compelled to make reprisals although the Soviets sincerely want peace. This, it is declared, is necessary because Chinese impertinence is growing due to the impression that the Soviets are too weak for war.

Thousands of workers in mass meetings have passed resolutions demanding reprisals for reported atrocities by Chinese and White Guard bands against Soviet citizens in Manchuria.

Britain, the United States and Japan are severely criticized by the press for their attitude. It is declared that the workers of those countries will in case of war support the Soviets, opposing assistance to China, "with civil wars possibly resulting in their countries."

The Soviets continue to undertake measures to strengthen the protection of the Far Eastern border, emphasizing that this is done because of permanent fear that "terrorist bands may pass the Soviet frontier one after another, protected and guided by Chinese, and also because the Soviets will not stand for their innocent subjects being terrorized in Manchuria."

The press sees the hand of foreign imperialists in the organizing of the White Guard and the arrest of Soviet citizens.

(Copyright, 1929.)

Shanghai, July 26 (A.P.).—Disorders, traced by the authorities to Communists, today were linked with alleged Communist pamphlets calling for general demonstrations on August 1, anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution in Russia.

Four hundred self-styled Communists, mainly young students of both sexes, tonight attempted to stage a demonstration before the closed up and deserted Soviet consulate in the heart of the international settlement. Police broke up the crowd.

While this was going on a Chinese student struck a Japanese policeman on the head with an iron bar and the latter as he fell shot and seriously wounded the student. The students then marked to another part of the settlement, largely inhabited by White Russians, and sought to continue their demonstrations. Police reserves finally drove them off.

(Associated Press.)

Germany yesterday informed the United States that she fully associates herself with the efforts of the major powers to effect a peaceful settlement of the Chinese-Russian difficulties over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The information was delivered to Secretary Stimson by Rudolf Leitner, German Embassy Charge d'Affaires, on instructions of the Berlin foreign office.

Mr. Stimson enlisted German cooperation after being informed by former Secretary Kellogg of the efforts which Germany made on behalf of the renunciation of war treaty, which Stimson used as the basis of his peace efforts last week.

Before and after communicating with Foreign Minister Briand in his efforts for amicable adjustment of the Manchurian situation, Mr. Stimson talked with the Ambassadors of France, Great Britain, Japan and Italy relative to the cooperation of their governments.

H-47 Disaster Blamed On British Naval Officer

Portsmouth, England, July 26 (A.P.).—Lieut. Claud Stanley Griffith Keen, of the submarine L-12, today was held responsible for the submarine H-47 disaster of July 9 by a general court martial. He was ordered severely reprimanded and dismissed from his ship.

More than a score of men lost their lives when the H-47 sank in St. George's channel after a collision with the L-12.

Marines in Nicaragua To Return to Quantico

Approximately 800 of the Marines who will be recalled from Nicaragua are to be stationed at Quantico and Hampton Roads, it was announced yesterday at Marine Corps headquarters here.

The naval transport Henderson, which is now at San Francisco, will leave August 10 for Nicaragua to pick up the men due for the Atlantic Coast. It will then return to Nicaragua to take on board the 400 Marines who will be stationed on the West Coast. President Hoover recently ordered 1,200 of the Marines on duty in Nicaragua recalled.

60 PERSONS KILLED IN ECUADOR QUAKE

Sustained Shocks Tumble Buildings as Aid Is Rushed.

TEMBLORS HIT JAPAN

Quito, Ecuador, July 26 (A.P.).—Sixty persons were reported killed in an earthquake which destroyed most of the buildings of the town of Mojurgo, halfway between this city and Machachi, at dawn today. General panic was caused in the vicinity by the shocks.

A strong shock first tumbled the buildings of the mountain village and following lighter shocks added to the terror of those inhabitants that escaped. Much damage was also done in Tabilio, Machachi and Latachunca.

Physicians and Red Cross workers rushed from here to the assistance of the injured and homeless. The earth movements still continued this evening. Near the center of the disturbance fissures were opened in the ground, in some cases 15 feet wide.

Tokyo, July 27 (Saturday), (A.P.). An earthquake of unusual strength and duration was felt here at 7:48 a. m. Two hours later no reports of damage had been made.

Clocks were stopped and telegraphs seriously interrupted. Persons here and in Yokohama rushed from their homes in panic.

It was a little less than six years ago that this section was devastated by the great earthquake.

New York Boy, Seized, Tells Kidnaping Tale

Leo Burman, 14 years old, of 785 East 151st street, New York City, was lodged in the District Receiving Home yesterday as a fugitive from his parents. He told police a man whom he encountered on Broadway forced him to purchase two tickets to Washington out of $85 which belonged to an investment company for which he worked.

Burman was arrested at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest by Detective Sergts. Oscar Mansfield and Harry E. Wilson, after he had telegraphed his parents for $10 to return to New York. He had $75 in his possession, and explained that the money belonged to his employers, the F. Domo Co., investment brokers.

Plane Salesman Is Killed in Crash

Preparing to Land Over Airport When Craft Goes Into Spin.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 26 (A.P.). Joseph Bogert, 35, salesman of the Monocoupe Aircraft Corporation, of Moline, Ill., was killed when his plane crashed at the local airport late today.

He was flying at a low altitude, preparing to land, officials of the air field said, when his craft went into a spin, struck light wires over the field and tore the top off a parked automobile. Bogert was pinned under the motor. Millard Cole, of Port Crane, occupant of the parked car, was cut on the arm. Bogert is believed to have been a native of Texas, Pa.

District Alienist Sued By Woman for $50,000

Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist and head of Gallinger Municipal Hospital, was named defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Mrs. Helen McHale, of 3110 Mount Pleasant street northwest.

The woman alleges that Dr. Hickling issued a false certificate of lunacy against her, which resulted in her incarceration for 20 days at Gallinger Hospital. She sets out that the charge was found to be false and was dropped following a hearing in District Supreme Court.

As a result of her incarceration and trial, Mrs. McHale claims injury to her credit, reputation, health and social standing. She is represented by Attorney Cecil R. Heflin.

is now a people's counsel whose only duty is to protect the interests of the public, the law even going so far as to authorize him to act in opposition to the commission in the people's interests. On the other hand, there are many important matters, other than utilities questions, which must be handled by the corporation counsel's office."

Clayton stressed after the conference with Taliaferro, that his proposal was not intended to reflect on Bride or Lynch and declared he had had a conference with Bride before he called on Taliaferro and had been given to understand that Bride had not the slightest objection to Clayton advocating appointment of a utilities expert.

Apparently not at all downcast by the failure of the present effort, Clayton made it clear that the development of an adequate legal staff for the utilities commission would be pressed. If the matter is not brought up for discussion and action at the first fall meeting of the federation, it will be done at a meeting soon thereafter, Clayton said.

"In advocating appointment of an expert in utilities law and practice there is no criticism of the ability of any member of the corporation counsel's staff," Clayton said. "Even the uninitiated among the public know that utilities law and procedure is a special field in itself, and the expert in that field is better equipped to work in it than is the lawyer engaged in general practice.

"Congress itself recognized the propriety of a specialist when, prior to reorganization of the utilities commission in its present form, it provided an appropriation of $5,000 for employment of such an attorney. I am convinced that if the matter is again put before Congress it will see with us on the subject and do what is necessary to fill the need."

Clayton himself held the post of specialist temporarily. Requested to accept appointment by Col. Franklin J. Bell, former Engineer Commissioner, Clayton agreed with the understanding that his service would terminate on the enactment of legislation reorganizing the commission. Immediately the reorganization was made he tendered his resignation and insisted that it be accepted.

TAX REBATE FUNDS MAY BE DECREASED

Settlement of Cases Brings Hope Appropriations Can Be Lowered.

CLAIMS REMAIN ON FILE

(Associated Press.)

Hope that settlement of cases originating before 1922 would bring a sharp decrease in the annual appropriations necessary for tax refunds was held out yesterday in a joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

Pointing to an average rate of settlement of $15,224,270 a month for the seven months between June 7 and December 31, 1928, the committee said that 42 per cent of these refunds were due to provisions of law which have not been applicable since 1922. Tax refund claims totaling $1,000,000,000 are still on file with the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Eighty-nine per cent of the refunds and credits reported to the committee, which passes upon those above $75,000, were for the years preceding 1922, and it pointed to this as offering the "hope that with the final settlement of excess profits tax years, the annual amount required for the payment of taxes erroneously collected will be very substantially reduced."

The three provisions, which the committee said accounted for 42 per cent of the refunds, were taxes on invested capital, special assessments, and amortization. These have not been in force since 1921.

The report said: "The most troublesome provisions in our present revenue act are those necessitating the valuation of estates; the consolidation of returns for affiliated companies; the determination of depreciation, obsolescence, and depletion; the valuation of inventories, and valuations for determining gain and loss. "It is evident," it continued, "that the future simplification of the income tax law must of necessity rest largely on a more simple and definite method of determining valuations and other questions of judgment."

The report reviewed at length numerous settlements, including the $15,752,000 United States Steel refund, and the $1,287,000 Aluminum Company of America settlement.

YOUNG PLAN DEBT CUT OPPOSED BY BRITAIN

foot the whole bill," was the burden of his complaint.

Lloyd George argued that of the yearly sum which Germany must pay unconditionally, France and Italy get nearly the whole; while the reduced British share of the reparations comes under the conditional payments, which Lloyd George does not think will be maintained.

The Liberal leader turned on hecklers who asked him why he did not make a sensible reparations settlement at the peace conference.

Made the Effort, He Says.

"I made the effort in correspondence with President Wilson. I've got the letters here and am quite willing they should be published. I offered then to cancel debts, but I said all around—excepting Germany."

Discussing the American attitude, Lloyd George said that he had always found the American "moderate and far-sighted on reparations, but unyielding on debts."

Snowden appeared on the treasury bench during this harangue, and began his reply by stating that Britain is not in any way committed to the Young report, "which means that if we get all we expect we shall get just enough to pay America."

The result of the Young plan, he said, should Germany default on the conditional payments, would be that Italy and France would get millions out of the guaranteed payment, while "we shall be left with nothing but a claim of £34,000,000 a year from America."

Voice Shakes With Emotion.

In acid tones, his voice shaking with emotion, Snowden, after recapitulating the British grievances under the Young scheme, said, "I cannot trust myself to say what I think of the way we have been treated."

Snowden ended by remarking, "the limit of concession by this country has been reached."

Snowden went so far in his speech as to make it extremely difficult for him to accept the vital financial clauses of the Young plan and the whole reparations settlement may be called into question. In no case, Snowden said, would he favor asking Germany to pay more, but he strongly indicated that Britain will ask France and Italy to restore the Spa percentages.

13 KILLED IN BLAST ON BRITISH CRUISER

12 Others Seriously Hurt; Accident Occurs During Battle Practice.

OFFICIAL QUIZ ORDERED

Valetta, Malta, July 26 (A.P.).—A terrific explosion blew away an 8-inch gun turret on the British cruiser Devonshire during battle practice off the Greek Island of Skiathos late today and killed thirteen marines. Twelve others were seriously injured and two of them were not expected to live.

The Devonshire tonight steamed at full speed for Volo, about 100 miles north of Athens on the east coast of Greece, to transfer the wounded to the hospital ship Maine.

The warship, which cost more than $6,250,000, was the latest London class cruiser to join the Mediterranean fleet. She carries eight 8-inch guns, four 4-inch guns, four 3-pounders, and four 2-pounders. Commissioned on March 19, 1929, her displacement is 14,000 tons.

The crew of the Devonshire numbers 685. It carries a silver reproduction of the drum carried around the world by Sir Francis Drake in the ship Pelican in 1577. The original of the drum is preserved in the Drake home in Devonshire.

An official inquiry into the explosion was ordered to start here tomorrow.

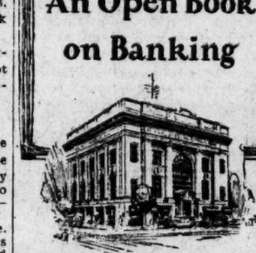
The last serious accident in the royal navy was on July 9, when the submarine H-47 sank in St. George's channel after collision with the submarine L-12. That accident caused the death of 23 men.

Permit Charge Dropped Against Negro Lawyer

A charge of obtaining a permit to drive an automobile by misrepresentation, which was booked several days ago by the police against Mortimer Harris, colored lawyer, has been dropped by the office of the corporation counsel, it was learned yesterday. The order to enter a nolle prosequi was signed by Corporation Counsel McBride.

Harris was arrested by Policeman J. A. Voss, of the Traffic Bureau, on a charge of parking double. His permit, which the policeman inspected, described the owner as white. This resulted in the misrepresentation charge. Harris posted collateral on both charges, $25 on the permit charge and $2 on the parking charge. The $2 collateral was forfeited by him, but since the dismissal of the other charge the $25 collateral has been returned.

An Open Book on Banking



THE Congress of the United States makes all laws regarding the business of banks like ours. The Federal Reserve Board, acting under the authority of Congress, grants fiduciary power to certain banks empowering them to handle estates, trusts and all other matters of that nature.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IF the genial and capable Mr. George W. Wickersham thinks he is going to be permitted to make the fine art of interpretative writing look foolish, he is mistaken. It must needs be preserved whatever the cost.

It is the only surviving institution of the old days of individual journalism when the editors put strength and feeling in their work and backed it up with small pieces of artillery. Interpretative writing alone has withstood the ravages of time and the standardization of newspapers.

It would readily lend itself to duelling were not duelling against the law, because there can be but little doubt that public men would often like to shoot the interpretative writers.

THE interpretative field ranks high in the profession. It is, indeed, one of the arts. Briefly, it is the ability to take the carefully prepared statement of a public character and so twist or distort it as to reveal what the character really thinks and what he is trying to disguise in the statement.

As public characters are multiplying year by year, it can readily be understood that interpretative writing must be preserved and preserved on a high plane at that.

IT is the business of interpretative writers to go to a man who has just appeared in the public eye, agree with him that words are so futile in making the public understand just what he has in mind, talk with him freely and easily and then, with a bang, tell the waiting world: "Here is what he really means." If the man at issue is not himself available then it is the business of the terpretative writer to get in touch with his friends, read up on some of his past utterances or do something in the interpretative line.

Now, Mr. Wickersham, or his friends, whoever it was that the interpretative writers saw regarding his recent prohibition letter to Gov. Roosevelt, would make a monkey out of the whole interpreting business.

Three interpretative writers have either talked with Mr. Wickersham or with his friends on the question of whether he intended for Gov. Roosevelt to make his letter public. One of them has given it as the interpretative low-down that Mr. Wickersham did; that he deliberately planned to stimulate discussion of the question. But two others have come right along in his wake and given it as the low-down, which only interpretative writers can get, that Mr. Wickersham intended no such thing; that he blushed very red at what Gov. Roosevelt said.

• • • •

IT is obvious that Mr. Wickersham, or his friends, are not "doing right" by the interpretative men. Either they simply want to make the interpreting business look ridiculous or they are using the interpretative men to create as much uncertainty about whether Mr. Wickersham wanted the letter to be made public as there is about the letter itself.

In either case, it is the severest blow the ancient and honorable profession of interpretative writing has received in a long time.

ARLINGTON SEEKS ROAD ROUTE PLANS

Work on New Lee Boulevard Will Be Started Soon, Johnson Says.

ZONING BODY IS ACTIVE

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Dr. Samuel M. Johnson, president of the National Boulevard Association and who for the past three years has been active in the development of plans for the construction of the Lee boulevard through Arlington County, announced last night that he had been advised that any contemplated changes in the proposed route leading from the Memorial Bridge to Fort Buffalo must be made now; as no changes will be made after the completion of the construction survey now being made.

J. D. Logan, State engineer, with a party is now making the survey for the first 7 miles of the highway from the bridge to Fort Buffalo.

Plans and specifications are being prepared at Richmond for the construction of a road leading from the Memorial Bridge and extending to Fort Buffalo, according to Dr. Johnson. The plans must be completed in order that the contract can be awarded early next year, Dr. Johnson said.

Dr. Johnson said:

"Several property owners are still holding out and not giving the needed rights of way through their property and in order to clear up this difficulty it is probable the present line will be shifted, crossing property where the owners have offered the right of way.

"Our organization is now securing deeds for a 200-foot right of way from Fort Buffalo through open country to Falls Church. While the State through legal limitations was unable to place this section of the highway extending to Fairfax in the State highway system, both the State and Federal Government have encouraged our organization to secure rights of way for the future development of the boulevard.

"In this connection we have recently secured a contract with the owners of the Fort Buffalo tract under which they have agreed to deed Fort Buffalo to the State or the Federal Government, as may seem best, for development as a park in connection with the boulevard and a fort drive."

In conclusion, Dr. Johnson said that unless deeds to property along the present route which have not yet been obtained are received soon it will be necessary for the engineers to shift the route along property where the owners are willing to give the right of way and benefit by the development to follow.

The danger of excluding that section of the Lee highway where the tracks of the Washington-Old Dominion Railway parallel the highway, from the contract calling for the widening from the Peoples State Bank to a point opposite the John M. Langston School in Halls Hill is unlikely, declared County Engineer L. C. Kinnier last night.

"While it is true that there is a clause in the specifications calling for the bids recently opened to the effect that that section of the highway might be excluded, indications are that the tracks will be moved as asked for by the State Highway Department," Engineer Kinnier declared.

Engineer Kinnier said, following a conference with officials of the railway yesterday, that it appeared that the problem is about to be solved.

Robert I. Mount, resident State highway engineer, announced last night that the State highway department will continue the improvement along the Glebe road to Columbia pike, a distance of 700 feet more than the contract provided for.

With the completion of this improvement, Arlington County will have an improved State highway from the Chain bridge to Columbia pike.

With a view of making a complete study of the conditions in Arlington County and the improvements to follow zoning, the commission made an all-day field survey yesterday.

Particular consideration was given to locating sites most suitable for commercial and industrial development. Consideration to the location for the community stores and general residential areas was also given.

Allen J. Saville, county zoning engineer, with his assistant, J. B. Chinn, both of Richmond, Va., accompanied the commission. The commission will meet again at the courthouse Friday night, August 2.

The State corporation has granted a charter to Robert S. Hansel, Inc., with principal offices at Clarendon, Arlington County.

According to the charter, the company will conduct a general advertising business. The capital stock is $1,000. The officers are: Robert S. Hansel, president; M. G. Hansel, secretary. Members of the board of directors are: Robert S. Hansel, S. T. Noland, and M. G. Hansel.

The East Arlington Colored Fire Department will open its annual carnival Monday night, continuing through Wednesday night. The carnival will be held at the intersection of Mount Vernon and Roosevelt avenues. The proceeds will go to the firehouse building fund.

The ways and means committee of the Clarendon Rebekah Lodge, No. 26, will hold a bake sale today in the offices of H. W. Beattie, Wilson boulevard, at Clarendon.

Services at the Arlington Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Edward Gardner Latch. At the morning service his subject will be "Stephen—A Man of God." In the evening there will be a special service with illustrated hymns and pictures.

The Rev. C. W. Fuller, pastor, will conduct both morning and evening services tomorrow at the Virginia Avenue Christian Church.

Pioneer Lodge of Good Templars will hold a meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. W. A. Sparrow. Delegates will be elected to attend the meeting of the grand lodge of Virginia, Maryland and the District of Columbia which will meet in Baltimore August 28.

The Clarendon Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist Churches will unite in union services tomorrow night at the Clarendon Methodist Church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Isaac Stevenson, pastor of the Clarendon Presbyterian Church.

The Boys Athletic Club of the Clarendon Methodist Church will hold field day this afternoon on the grounds adjoining the church.

STATE ROAD GROUP GETS AVENUE LAND

Only One Other Parcel Now Needed for Street Extension.

AGREEMENT IS LIKELY

A condemnation jury yesterday at Hyattsville awarded damages of $250 for one site and at a late hour last night was still considering valuation of a second parcel of land which are needed by the State Roads Commission to complete the acquisition of the rights of way for the extension of Rhode Island avenue from Mount Rainier to Hyattsville. The jury awarded the $250 to Mrs. Annie Himmelfarb for the 3,250 square feet of her property which will be taken by the road commission. This was about one-half of the amount asked by Mrs. Himmelfarb and was ten times the amount offered by the State.

The State contended that the extension of the avenue will benefit the property rather than damage it. The jury was told by assessors that the land was worth about $487. Assistant Attorney Gen. Robert H. Archer, who with William Stanley, conducted the prosecution, told the jury that they should consider the increase in value whileh would result from the extention of Rhode Island avenue.

Sheriff Charles Early presided at both hearigs. The property which the jury was evaulating last night was of Morris L. Weinstein, which is further complicated by the question of damages claimed by Mr. and Mrs. Max Leibow, proprietors of a store on the property, and a mortgage held by William P. Magruder to the value of approximately $9,000. Through Ceaser Aiello, counsel, Weinstein claimed that his property is worth approximately $18,000, and the Leibow's claimed that they will lose $2,300 in unpaid bills as well as possibly $5,000 in property. Aiello told the jury that unless they fixed a damage of $25,000 that they should have it on their consciences. Archer declared that the State Roads Commission is spending more money in the vicinity of Hyattsville than any where else in the State and that the avenue extension has been requested rpeatdly for a number of years.

The State claims that $6,000 would be a fair price.

The jury made an award of $11,500. It recommended that $9,000 be paid to the Weinsteins and $2,500 to the Liebows.

The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Warner Tomphrey, in Rockville. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. No inquest will be held, the police believing the drowning to have been accidental. Among the searching party were Montgomery County Policemen James Shoemaker and E. R. Jones, and Policemen M. B. Harbaugh, and Charles M. Birkigh of the Harbor Police Station in Washington. Wilford A. Weaver, brother of the drowned man, also of Baltimore, was at the scene and is making funeral arrangements.

Weaver, accompanied by his wife and child, had gone to the recreation park for a day's outing. While the wife and child wandered about viewing the scenery, Weaver went fishing. After he had been absent for several hours, the wife became anxious and called Montgomery County Policeman Douglas Dosh, who found the place where Weaver had been fishing. air was made here this afternoon in connection with the endurance flight of the monoplane Billion Dollar City, which had been aloft 219 hours at 4:49:54 p. m.

The refueling ship—called the Flying Milk Wagon—piloted by Lieut. Earl Showalter, Texas National Guard, took off, delivered 50 gallons of gasoline to the big black and gold monoplane and taxied to a standstill within thirteen minutes. Contact was made at the unusual low altitude of 300 feet, directly over the airport, to which the fliers were sticking close since their barograph ran out.

Permission to leave the environs of the Houston airport in case of bad weather provided two official observers keep a check on the endurance fliers, from another ship has been granted by the National Aeronautical Association, and a ship and crew were being assembled.

It will be ready Saturday.

The Billion Dollar City Friday morning without difficulty weathered sharp showers which lasted two and a half hours, flying over the airport. When the ship for the official observers is commissioned, however, Pilots Joe Glass and Glenn L. Loomis indicated they would resume the practice of running out of showers and electrical storms.

Minnesota Up 98 Hours.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 26 (A.P.).—Pilots Owen Haugland and Capt. P. L. Crichton, of Minneapolis, tonight completed their fourth full day in their endurance refueling flight. At 8:40 p. m. they had been in the air 98 hours.

During the day they took their monoplane, the Minnesota, to Mason City, Iowa, and southern Minnesota towns. When they came back for their refueling tonight, they dropped a note inquiring if it was hot on the ground, adding that it was "miserable" aloft.

Plans Flight Around U. S.

Spokane, Wash., July 26 (A.P.).—A nonstop round trip endurance flight around the U. S. to test the practicability of refueling planes carrying full cargoes on long trips is planned by Lieut. "Nick" Mamer, head of the Mamer Air Transport, Inc., and Government forest patrol pilot.

Lieut. Mamer said he would have a refueling ship accompany his plane for the flight.

The tentative itinerary provides that Mamer will fly from Felts Field at Spokane to St. Paul, thence to Cleveland, New York, Washington, D. C., Cleveland again, then Omaha, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Portland and back to Spokane. The flight then will be continued over the airport here in an attempt to break whatever endurance record stands at that time.

The flight, Mamer said, would be attempted as soon as he could condition two planes. Mamer is known nationally as a veteran pilot. He flew in the New York-Spokane air derby two years ago and has since made several cross-country flights. He received his air training in the Army Air Corps.

The round trip refueling was to be tried, he said, in accordance with the suggestion made today by Major Clarence M. Young, aeronautical director of the Department of Commerce. Young told the Associated Press in Washington that "I think the logical step is to put it faerial refueling) to use economically by refueling planes carrying full cargoes on nonstop flights across the continent."

ROTARY LEFT TURN LEADS EARLY VOTE

Combined Alternatives Win Against Retention of Present Method.

MANY SEND IN BALLOTS

voters were members of the A. A. A. and declared that they had never been polled concerning the left turn or other issues. They refused to agree that the body expressed the unanimous sentiment of the total membership.

Objections Are Answered.

To defenders of the rotary turn whose letters pointed out that "local motorists have become accustomed to the present left turn," partisans of the Hoover code turn replied that "a radical leave-taking of nonuniform traffic methods is the demand of safety today."

That the "Hoover turn is dangerous," as insisted by some of its opponents, drew the emphatic answer in letters from partisans of this method that "Washington already is making this turn at a majority of its intersections at this moment. Only at lighted or police-controlled intersections, which are by far the minority, is it doing otherwise."

Still another answer to the objection comes in the statement that "if the turn were dangerous, the best traffic minds of the country would have recognized this fact. Even had they erred, the majority of the cities now using it would have abandoned it had their experiences shown it to be dangerous."

Obviously, there are few middle-grounders in the campaign which will continue until every motorist has had a reasonable opportunity to vote. The scores of letters are ample demonstration of that fact.

In the counting of the votes, the traffic office and The Post were represented, the former by A. G. Seiler and the latter by W. E. Schaaff. An invitation to the A. A. A. to send a representative was declined by Charles P. Clark, general manager, with the statement that the organization "had full confidence in The Post."

Havenner States His Position.

Echoing the same sentiment, the traffic office named a representative, however, because of its eagerness to learn in advance the trend of the vote on the subject in which it is so much concerned as a result of Director Harland's voiced willingness to change the turn if sentiment shows it to be desired.

In addition to his statement that the Federation of Citizens Association had gone on record as against a change in the regulation, Dr. Havenner, speaking as an individual, declared his unqualified opposition to any other method. In this connection, he declared:

"I am a member of the A. A. A., too. When they say that they speak for the membership of the entire organization in opposing the left turn, I do not agree. I only wish that every A. A. A. member casting a ballot in The Post's poll would mark his ballot to the effect that he belonged to the organization. Then there would be some way of checking on the method by which the A. A. A. reached the decision to oppose the present rotary turn.

"I have never been queried by the A. A. A. on the subject of a left turn change and have always been against it."

Hoover Turn Called "Obsolete."

A new argument against the Hoover code turn was advanced by the traffic office in its statement issued yesterday. It declares that the turn proposed in the model code is "obsolete and was handed down to us from the days of horse-drawn traffic."

The full text of the statement follows:

"It is now proposed that in the interest of uniformity, the left turn at controlled intersections shall be made on a green light ahead by driving to the center of the intersection and completing the turn without stopping.

"While this office is extremely interested in uniformity and would like to see it brought about, we are also interested in the question of safety.

"The method proposed in the model municipal code of making the left turn on a green light from the center of the street, would make it necessary to complete the turn against a red light and against traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian, moving on the proper signal.

"In the preparation of the left turn rule in the municipal code, little or no consideration appears to have been given to the protection of pedestrians who may be crossing the street on the green or go signal.

"The left turn rule in the municipal code is obsolete and was handed down to us from the days of horse-drawn traffic. It is not adapted to modern conditions where traffic is handled by coordinated traffic lights.

Mode Code Claim Disputed.

"The claim that the method proposed in the uniform code is universally used throughout the country is not correct. The States of Pennsylvania and New Jersey have recently adopted a new traffic code which is effective in all cities in those States. The left turn described in the new code which they have adopted is made from the center of the street on a green light ahead against a red light on the intersection street, but the turn is made to the left of the central point of intersection instead of to the right or over the central point as provided for in the municipal code. This is a much safer method of turning than that provided for in the municipal code because vehicles making left turns do not interfere with each other. It is not, however, as safe as the turn made in Washington, because in that turn through traffic is permitted to flow freely and left turn traffic does not interfere with pedestrian traffic moving on proper signal. The only traffic which is delayed under the Washington and Cleveland system is traffic making a left or right turn. Any driver can figure out for himself how many turns he makes at controlled intersections a day and how much time is thus lost in the interest of safety.

"Washington has a record which is unequaled by any city in the United States. During the past year we have gone through two entire months without a traffic fatality. Traffic accidents during the last month have been reduced to a minimum, in spite of all of the agitation against the left-hand turn.

"It seems to us that the time has come when other cities should study the system and methods by which these results have been achieved instead of attempting to have us adopt traffic regulations of other cities solely in the interest of uniformity."

A. A. A. Left Turn Poll Shows Change Is Favored

A poll conducted by the American Automobile Association reveals among its members "an overwhelming sentiment" in favor of the adoption of the standard left-hand turn of the Hoover model municipal ordinance in place of the rotary turn now in force at controlled intersections in the District of Columbia. Results made public yesterday showed that out of 386 resident drivers who were asked, "Which do you prefer, the turn from the left lane or the wide-swinging rotary turn?" 83.9 per cent favored the former while 16.1 per cent prefer the present system.

In making public the result of the poll, Charles P. Clark, general manager, said that the A. A. A. has been ascertaining the sentiment of car owners in regard to the left turn for some time and that "a surprising development was the fact that 5.1 per cent of local motorists answering the question, 'Did you know Washington has two methods of making left turns—one for controlled crossings and one for uncontrolled crossings?'—did not know that two methods are employed."

The drivers voting in the A. A. A. survey were almost unanimous in favoring uniformity by having one rule at all crossings and bringing Washington traffic regulation into conformity with the recommendations of the Hoover conference. In this connection, 96 per cent of 452 resident motorists cast ballots favoring one rule at all crossings and 98.7 per cent favored uniformity in all traffic rules.

Efficiency, the Bureau of Pensions and the Employes' Compensation Commission."

The rating of Government employes by the Personnel Classification Board, which are being put into effect now for the next fiscal year, were scored by Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the American League of the American Civil Service.

"We are receiving numberless cases in which the efficiency rating system is breaking down the morale of the Government employes," declared Mrs. Worrell. "We find that many are brooding over their improper ratings and are not able to do their work properly.

"Favoritism is rampant in Government service. It is brought to our attention that many young girls are being brought in and are being given higher salaries than people who have been in for years. The league is of the opinion that all these deplorable conditions, especially in the efficiency system, will be rectified. We have confidence in this administration.

"We are seeking the abolition of the present Personnel Classification Board and the transfer of its duties to the Civil Service Commission, together with the establishment of a Board of Civil Service Appeals. Senator Brookhart has introduced such a bill, which he has assured us will be pushed through at the next session of Congress. We also expect to have a bill introduced to give all Government employes receiving less than $3,000 a flat $300 a year increase."

Postmaster Kills Self With Pistol

Inspectors at His Office as Wiliamsport Man Ends Own Life.

Williamsport, Pa., July 26 (A.P.).—Postmaster W. Stans Hill killed himself today at pistol practice with two postoffice employes at Sulphur Springs, a few miles south of the city.

The two employes had been shooting, and when Hill's turn came he requested them to move the target. As they left his side the postmaster put the pistol to his head and fired.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26 (A.P.).—Chief Postal Inspector O. B. Williamson, when informed of the death of Postmaster Hill at Williamsport, said that inspectors had been at the Williamsport postoffice for a week making an inspection.

MALE JURY SOUGHT BY SNOOK COUNSEL

Four More Women Removed From Tentative Box by Their Challenges.

DRY TESTIMONY CAUSE

Columbus, Ohio, July 26 (A.P.).—Four women were removed today from the tentative jury to try Dr. James H. Snook on a charge of first-degree murder of Theora Hix, his coed paramour, by peremptory challenges of defense counsel. Another woman juror was removed by them yesterday.

Disqualification of tentative jurors by challenges or for cause had so depleted the list of 75 veniremen tonight that another list of 50 persons was ordered by Judge Henry L. Scarlett to be prepared for an extra venire Monday.

It appeared that Snook's attorneys were determined to obtain a jury preferably of men, probably because of the nature of the testimony that members of the panel will be required to discuss and weigh before they reach a verdict.

This testimony, Attorney John F. Seidel informed the jurors, will be replete with instances showing that Dr. Snook and the girl medical student maintained illicit relations over a period of three years and in that time had used narcotics which fostered the relationship.

Seidel served notice on jurors in determining their qualifications that the defense expects to prove that Miss Hix was responsible for their use of narcotics, first giving them secretly to her 49-year-old lover and then joining with him in experimenting in their use.

The defense indicated it expects to impress upon the jury that Miss Hix brought on her own death by administering the narcotics, thereby contributing to a partial mental breakdown which rendered Dr. Snook emotionally irresponsible for his actions when he hammered the girl during a quarrel on the night of June 13 and then severed her jugular vein to "end her suffering."

The remaining tentative jurors tonight included three women and seven men.

France Proclaims Kellogg Pact.

Paris, July 26 (A.P.).—The Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war was proclaimed as effective by publication in today's issue of the official journal of the decree putting it in force.

Investment Head And Aid Arrested

Embezzlement Is Hinted as Connecticut Firm Goes Into Receivership.

New Haven, Conn., July 26 (A.P.).—John E. Parker, president of the Parker Smith Investment Co., Inc., investment brokers, was arrested today and placed under bonds of $25,000 on unannounced charges. Parker's company recently was placed in temporary receivership at request of the State banking department.

Paul Smith, treasurer, was also arrested, and a warrant was being used to find Clarence Smith, who was secretary. It was understood the charges against Parker were eight or nine for embezzlement and one count for conspiracy. The State bank commissioner proceeded against the company because it had not taken out a license to do business.

Three Generals in Recent Outbreak, Banned, Arrive at Nogales.

Nogales, Ariz., July 26 (A.P.).—With the appearance here today of three generals of the recent Mexican revolt, it became known that the Mexican war department was ordering into exile all officers who had fought against the Mexican federal government.

Gens. Manuel Aguirre, Euardo Garcia and Jesus Palma crossed into Arizona from Nogales, Sonora. Gen. Aguirre led the first outbreak in Sonora in the recent insurrection, taking Nogales at the same time his brother, Jesus M. Aguirre, led an uprising in Vera Cruz. Jesus Aguirre was captured and executed by federal soldiers.

Fountains of Lava Fill Kilauea's Pit

Big Crowds Stand on Edge of Crater to See Fiery Hawaiian Display.

Volcano House, Island of Hawaii, July 26 (A.P.).—Fountains of molten lava were rapidly filling the great fire pit of the volcano Kilauea today. Eruptions which began yesterday have steadily increased in strength, notwithstanding the efforts of an aged Hawaiian woman who ventured to the pit side and made sacrifice to the volcano's goddess, Pele, with offerings of awa root and bread.

The flaming cauldron of Halemaumau, the fire pit within Kilauea's gigantic crater, hurled forth blue smoke and sulphur fumes, but could not drive away thousands who gazed down upon the spectacle from the pit rim, itself 3,000 feet across and within the main crater of Kilauea, 8 miles in circumference.

BE PREPARED

The motto of the Boy Scouts of America deserves attention from all of us regardless of age, for who of us has not experienced an earnest desire to accomplish bigger and better things?

What parents do not hope to see their children do better work, make more progress and enjoy greater advantanges than they?

What will make these bigger and better things possible?

PREPARATION

We must be prepared to do our best on our present jobs before we may expect to advance to more important activities. The value of careful and thorough preparation was realized by no less a person than Abraham Lincoln when he observed William H. Seward, his opponent from New York, thoughtfully preparing notes on a case they were trying in Cincinnati.

Lincoln was recognized as the best lawyer in the West, but after losing this important case to Seward, he declared that he must study more diligently because many of the best lawyers of the East were moving westward and he must be prepared to compete with them. Recognizing Seward's preparedness, Lincoln later made him his Secretary of State.

The need of preparation is an ever-present problem—not for youth alone—but for each one of us who wish to keep abreast of the times in any trade or profession.

To be prepared—That is a duty we owe ourselves, fully as much as we owe it to our children that they also be prepared to face life well developed in spirit, mind and body. There would be less indifference to law and order, and much less actual crime if everyone had been properly prepared in youth to meet problems that confront them in everyday life.

Prepare today to meet the responsibilities of tomorrow.

THE LOOPHOLE.

President Hoover's authority for suspending construction of three of the five American cruisers, which were ordered built under the terms of the naval bill, is based on a loophole in the bill, according to the defense now advanced for the action.

The American people, through their representatives in Congress, went overwhelmingly on record for a bona fide program of steel ships with a stipulated time schedule so there could be no postponement, diplomatic bargaining or delay. They repudiated all the various efforts made to eliminate the time limit. But they left one loophole unguarded, it is now stated, and a trick phrase in paragraph d of the cruiser act remained in the bill to provide that if any of the construction authorized to be undertaken in the fiscal years 1929 and 1930 "is not undertaken in that fiscal year, such construction may be undertaken in the next fiscal year."

The obvious purport of this was to permit the program to be carried out without interruption and in accordance with the plain provisions of the bill. But the language may be a little vague and it may therefore be true that the American people have subjected themselves to the risk of having their purpose frustrated because they failed to stop up a loophole hidden in the technical terminology of the act.

But it is unfortunate in more ways than one that the President has been persuaded to take advantage of a technicality even though his action may weather the storm certain to arise when the Senate convenes. Whoever advised Mr. Hoover to trade the expressed will of the American people for a mess of British disarmament pottage rendered poor service indeed.

In the first place it was calculated to weaken the foundations of naval reduction negotiations at a time when confidence of the American people is badly needed to counteract the impression that the United States is altogether too likely to be the easiest sort of victim to British diplomacy.

Great Britain's superiority in cruisers is measured by a ratio of 62 to 28, even with the American cruiser program included. Unless parity is to be interpreted as a state of mind instead of a measure of relative naval strength it will be necessary for the British to scrap ships or for America to build them. The gesture of sacrifice contained in the President's reply to Premier MacDonald was therefore unfortunate in the sense that it implies eagerness to sacrifice for the sake of promoting the chances of a naval agreement.

Calvin Coolidge could have had a naval agreement at Geneva in 1927 if he had been willing to sacrifice the naval interests of the United States. He bluntly refused. The fear that will haunt America during the next negotiations is that the Government may overlook naval sacrifice in its desire to come to terms with the British. The vague, shadowy definitions of parity forecast to some a purpose of laying the groundwork for another American sacrifice. Suspending the cruiser building program, in defiance of the intent of Congress, naturally causes distinct uneasiness and tends to create an advance atmosphere of suspicion about every move yet to come in the naval reduction negotiations.

In these negotiations the main purpose is to safeguard American naval defense rather than to strive to win the plaudits of the British for American willingness to give up ships. Cordiality with the British government in the advance negotiations over naval reductions is desirable. But it is not necessary to sacrifice American cruisers to procure it.

EFFICIENCY RATINGS.

Government workers are again making war on the system of annual efficiency ratings. The new ratings worked out under direction of the Personnel Classification Board have drawn complaints from many employes, and the National Federation of Federal Employes has voiced its dissatisfaction with the whole efficiency system. The office of the League of American Civil Service is keeping its office open until midnight to receive complaints.

The chief criticism against the efficiency system is that it is unfair to the individual employe. Employes' organizations charge that some individuals are being rated according to favoritism, and that there is no way of checking up on the rating officers. It is contended that rating should be within the unit only, under one single rating officer. Under the present system, it is contended, different rating officers grade employes according to their own ideas and the aggregate result is injustice to the different groups.

It is unquestionably true that there are many injustices under the present efficiency system, but that fact alone does not mean that the plan should be abolished. If the efficiency system is discarded what will take its place? Government officials who are closely in touch with operation of the system find that it is not free from inequalities, but they believe that it is the best system that has been suggested. The rating of human beings is one of the most difficult of all undertakings. It can not be done by an exact process of measurement, and even when it is done according to the best available standards there is a wide margin for disagreement. If it is possible to work out a better human "yardstick" than the present efficiency system by all means it should be done.

The need for some plan of rating employes in an organization that includes 40,000 persons is imperative. The necessity is accentuated when the employer is a government, subject to all manner of political and individual influence. A rating on the basis of age or length of service is manifestly inefficient and unfair. How is the promotion, demotion, discharge or amount of wages paid each employe to be determined? Some plans have been offered, but they should be carefully scrutinized before they are accepted to replace the existing system. To leave such a large organization of employes without classification on an efficiency basis would doubtless expose them to far more injustice than at present. Before the plan of the Bureau of Efficiency is discarded it would be well to make certain that the proposed change will advance and not retard the interests of Government workers.

SWEEPING LAWS AWAY.

The prospect of sweeping nearly 1,500 laws from the statute books would be a cause for rejoicing in many States, but in Connecticut the indiscriminate sweeping of the supreme court has caused not a little commotion. It is unfortunate that the ruling nullifies both the good and the obnoxious decisions of the Legislature for the last six years. If a little discretion could have been used in the selection of statutes, application of the pruning knife might have proved a blessing.

The whole situation arises from the fact that in America governments do not grow according to strictly natural principles but are, so to speak, made to order. The law in Connecticut says that bills passed by the General Assembly must be signed by the governor within three days. The duties of governors have so increased in these days of legislative prosperity that they have found it impossible to keep pace with their lawmaking bodies. Consequently the recent governors of Connecticut have quietly disregarded the three-day limit and have given each bill as much attention as it required for an intelligent decision.

Everything went well until the Legislature condemned for use of the State a piece of land of which the owner was particularly fond. His attorneys discovered that the condemnation bill had been signed two weeks after its passage and was therefore unconstitutional. In most of such cases the supreme court can be relied upon to render a "common sense" decision which will extricate the State from the muddle. No doubt the Connecticut court made every effort to justify the governors in taking their time but they were forced to "make this finding on the facts of the case."

Apparently every one had confidence in the "common sense" of the supreme court. Gov. Trumbull was so unexpectant of having the State reduced to its legislative status of 1923 that he was journeying toward Ontario on a vacation, but he has been notified and he is expected to call an extra session of the Legislature. The people, too, seemed to be considerably wrought up, for it is not the usual experience to become unburdened of so much legislation at a single stroke. But no doubt the borders of the State will remain stationary and the economic and political machinery will continue to grind until the Legislature patches things up.

BROMLEY'S FLIGHT.

Out on the Pacific Coast the monoplane City of Tacoma stands poised for a 4,700-mile transpacific flight to Tokyo. The ship is a splendid example of modern aircraft design and its pilot, Lieut. Harold Bromley, enthusiastically predicts that it will reach its destination in 33 hours. Nevertheless, the plane is a land plane, absolutely unsuited to transoceanic flying, and it must be admitted that the odds are decidedly against its intrepid pilot. If Lieut Bromley does reach Tokyo what will aviation have gained and what will he have proved?

The current issue of Aviation, the oldest magazine devoted to aeronautics in the country, of which Edward P. Warner, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, has recently become editor, sharply attacks transoceanic flights. "It remains true after two years of constant effort and frequent failure with fatal result," says the magazine, "that Lindbergh's flight is the only one which has crossed the Atlantic directly from continent to continent and terminated at the point intended. For everything that could be proved by flying a land plane across the Atlantic he furnished the proof." The article calls attention to the fact that for every flight that has succeeded two or more have failed and that when a land plane fails the sea generally swallows up its story. It continues: "When the progress that has been made toward practical oceanic aerial navigation as the result of the flights attempted is compared with the appalling loss of lives, some of which represented the very cream of their countries' piloting experience, with the tremendous cost in time, money and diversion of effort and with the loss of public confidence through repeated failure, there is only one conclusion that can be reached. The thing is not worth while."

What Aviation has to say in respect to transatlantic flights applies with equal force to transpacific flights. The Pacific has not yet been crossed by plane nonstop, but nothing is to be gained and little will be proved by completing such a flight. Lieut. Bromley could serve progress far better, gain equal prominence and experience similar thrills by attempting a nonstop, round-trip transcontinental flight.

FUTILE TO PROTEST

By TOM KING,
In the Manitoba Free Press.

Some 28 foreign nations have made "diplomatic representation" to the Government of the United States protesting against the upward revision provided for in the tariff bill now before the Senate. Naturally the protest in the case of every country confines itself to the particular commodities which that country is exporting to the United States. France, for example, does not care how high the new duties may be on flaxseed, dairy products or potatoes, because she is selling none of these things to the United States. Australia objects to a high duty on beef, but she is not concerned about the tariff on live cattle. Nearly all the protesting countries have high tariffs of their own and can not object to a tariff law upon any question of principle. Czechoslovakia protests against the United States transferring boots and shoes from the free to the dutiable list, but Czechoslovakia herself imposes a high tariff upon boots and shoes. It may be said that the protests are not so much against the United States maintaining a tariff as against certain tariff duties which are so high as to constitute an embargo.

But even an embargo is not in itself an unfriendly act provided it applies not to one nation but to all the nations of the world. The prohibition amendment placed an embargo against intoxicating liquors, although they had been freely exported to the United States for more than a century. This embargo, no doubt, inflicted severe financial loss upon many people in the United Kingdom, France, Holland, Spain and Italy. It may have been a wise or a foolish thing for the United States to do, but the United States had an undoubted right to determine its own policy on this subject, even though it inflicted incidental injury upon many other countries. No foreign nation was discriminated against; the embargo applied to all. The same is true of the tariff.

The tariff duties, whether wise or foolish, high or low, apply to all the world. No country can say that it is being discriminated against. Hence these protests from foreign nations really amount to this—that some of the duties contained in the tariff bill will curtail or eliminate imports from this or that country to the United States and are, therefore, objectionable to that particular country. True, there is the implication that the United States will suffer in consequence by a loss in her export trade. The number of nations joining in the protest, and the possibility of their forming some economic alliance among themselves against the United States, are factors that should be, and probably will be, considered by the Senate, but I think none the less that Canada would have accomplished nothing by joining in this chorus of diplomatic representations.

The opposition in Congress may use these foreign protests as a talking point in their fight against the tariff bill, but it will have to be done adroitly. An intensely nationalistic spirit is rampant, and anything like foreign interference in domestic politics will be hotly resented. The United States has always contended that her tariff policy and her immigration policy are her own concern, and can not be reviewed by any foreign nation or all the foreign nations of the world combined. Canada, I think, takes very much the same position. True, many of the great manufacturers in the United States may dread the loss of export trade and urge the Senate to give heed to the protesting nations, but the farmers and their representatives will have something to say on the other side. Why should a farmer growing potatoes out in Idaho give up the tariff for which he is contending in order to help the agricultural machinery manufacturers increase their sales in Canada? Why should the peanut growers in Virginia lose the profit they are counting on from the tariff in order to help the sale of American films in foreign countries? Were the United States to admit frozen beef from Australia and butter from New Zealand free of duty there is little doubt that the American automobile manufacturers would increase their sales in Australia and New Zealand. But what advantage would that be to the cattle grower in Montana or to the buttermaker in Minnesota?

The people who really have most cause to fear foreign ill will are the artisans employed in the great manufacturing establishments of the United States. If Canada makes a tariff high enough to force an American manufacturer to establish a branch factory in Canada the manufacturer loses nothing, but some of his workmen go out of employment. The goods upon which they worked may have been intended for the Canadian market, and when the branch factory goes up in Canada that work is done by Canadian artisans. When we see these branch factories starting up in Canada we are generally quite pleased, and we would think that Uncle Sam was off his head if he protested against the Canadian tariff merely upon the ground that it threw some of his people out of employment.

PRESS COMMENT.

Or Worse.

Atchison Globe: The United States now ships macaroni and spaghetti to Italy, which is as bad as carrying coals to Newcastle.

No Danger.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: At any rate, the fact that a Washington woman recently gave a dry dinner proves that it can be done. This having been established, no repetition of the incident is expected.

Suggestion.

Detroit Free Press: The use of tear gas by banks and trust companies to disperse persons of evil intent may offer a hint to the Government in raids on the pork barrel.

Most Any Day Now.

Indianapolis News: Lindy and Anne have been riding in a dirigible, where they are as much at home as in an airplane, and it wouldn't surprise anybody to see the colonel sailing across the sky on a broomstick any day.

Nothing Left in Life.

Los Angeles Times: The insurance companies say that the suicide rate in the country is showing a steady increase. Must be that a lot of folks are running out of places to go.

The One And Only.

Louisville Courier-Journal: A member of the New York Stock Exchange, weighing 332 pounds, has been sued for divorce on the ground that he failed to keep his pre-nuptial promise to reduce. He appears to be the only thing on 'Change that escaped deflation.

Yardstick or Longer.

Topeka Daily Capital: President Hoover's idea is that "adequate protection" is the yardstick for the tariff makers. A lot of interests are crowding the Senate hearings, however, who, if they have their way, will not stand for a yardstick. What they want for measurement is a milestone.

What To Do?

Minneapolis Tribune: United States Naval Academy officials are wondering what the naval world is coming to. A certain woman representative in the House has announced that she is seriously considering naming young women as her appointees to Annapolis. She observes that women have entered many fields traditionally supposed to be closed to the fair sex. But now that women are successfully entering the factories and the professions, she sees no reason why they should be discriminated against in the Navy.

The midshipmen are said to be grinning over the idea. They have no objections at all to a little feminine company. In fact, the first maid who enters the academy is said to be assured of a royal welcome. But the officials themselves are confronted with the problem of distracting the congresswomen from turning Annapolis into a boys'-and-girls' school. And this particular problem, it appears, has never been dealt with in any treatises written on naval strategy. We have no special solution for them, but must confess to some amusement over their distress.

JANET'S LITTLE LEGS.

How fast those little legs can run
The whole day through
As if the strength for mirth and fun
No wearying knew.
From dawn to dusk, all up and down
They keep their pace
And never comes an anxious frown
To that glad face.
While oldsters dread the burning sun
And seek the shade,
Out there you gayly shout and run
All unafraid.
If I to follow you should dare,
Beyond a doubt
Those little legs so brown and bare
Would wear me out.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

I suppose all youngsters of your age, having acquired an appetite for knowledge, wonder about the beginning and ending of life. That you should think about such things isn't surprising, but I was surprised by the remark you made as we were driving up the mountains yesterday.

You said you wouldn't mind dying if you were sure of heaven. And when I questioned the accuracy of that statement, you explained that death could have no terrors if it served as a door to another life where you could find the answer to questions that now trouble you.

You get more fun out of life than anybody else I know, and I'm sure you would like to stay here a long time; but your reasoning is sound, and I'm glad the thought of death doesn't frighten you.

It isn't a thing to dread, and if you have any lingering doubts about a life hereafter, I think I can set your mind at rest on that score.

You have learned in school that nothing can be destroyed. That truth alone will answer all your questions if you can comprehend it.

You can burn coal and thus seem to destroy it, but the ashes and gases remain. You have changed the form of a substance, but you haven't destroyed it.

You can't destroy anything. Everything that was here when the universe was created is here now.

The tiny atoms or electrons or units of energy that compose matter have been changed into a multitude of forms, and the atom that was part of a forest tree before America was discovered may now be a portion of your finger nail; but man can no more destroy matter than he can create it, and the universe still has its original equipment.

Your common sense tells you that is true.

And if it is a law of nature that nothing can be destroyed, common sense will tell you that life, most important of all created things, must be governed by the same law.

You can't see life after it leaves the body. For that matter, you can't see it while it is in the body. You can only see the difference when it is gone. But you know it exists, even though you can't see it; and since nothing can be destroyed, you know it continues to exist, though none can see it or tell where it is.

What becomes of it? Only God knows. But we know that the whole scheme of nature is a process of growth—of development—and since that is the law, common sense again comes to the rescue and gives assurance that life will continue to grow.

The Creator will use it, as everything is used—perhaps in a finer creature on another planet—possibly as a unit in the force that governs the universe. Nobody knows.

You need not care. All will happen according to law. And if you do your part by developing as best you can, rest assured you never will be less than you are now.

DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE VACATIONISTS' RELIEF FUND.

Today this department makes its 1929 appeal for contributions to its fund for the relief of suffering vacationists, which was so successful last summer in its campaign to rescue and succor victims of summer resort propaganda. Again July finds countless people enduring the discomforts and miseries of summer vacations when a few dollars from thoughtful readers would help bring them back to their own homes, where they can enjoy good food, soft beds and a little coffee fit to drink. Won't you help? Remember that every dollar counts.

* * * *

Careful investigation has revealed that this summer more people are in distress at the shore, mountain and lake resorts than ever before. Caught in stuffy rooms and at hotels where the food is, to say the least, inadequate, these vacationists are in a deplorable plight. Many of them are starving. Scores are prostrated through their efforts to find a hotel window with a good view. Hundreds have been knocked out by the music from summer hotel pianists. Not a few have been gassed by the front-porch chin and chatter brigade. If you only could look into the faces of these summer vacationists and see the yearning for city friends, good music and modern plumbing you would be the first to help.

* * * *

Bear in mind these facts: $10 will bring home one adult vacationist or two children. For this week only there will be a special rate of three adults or six children for $25. Fifty dollars will bring home, under this special offer, six adults or twelve children. A great many people go to summer resorts with their dogs. The dogs suffer worse than their owners. Two dollars will bring home a dog.

* * * *

Following are some of the letters received from vacationists telling of their distressing plight:

Dear Editor: I came to —— Beach with my wife for a two-week vacation. We wanted a change. Believe me, we got it. There is a shooting gallery across the street and a roller-coaster in the lot next to the hotel. We can get sleep only by reading the hotel literature. Won't you help us get home to our three-room flat?

MR. B.

Sir: I am a mother and came to this seaside resort with my two little children so they could get salt water bathing. They cut their feet so badly the first day on sardine cans left by beach picnickers that they have been unable to walk since. We have a room under a leaky roof, and a woodpecker has his nest in one of the bedposts. Our first week's bill took all our money. We need help badly.

A MOTHER.

Are you not moved by these pathetic letters? Do you not feel a tug at your heart? If you are at home in all the comforts of your own home in the city do you not feel deeply for the thousands of unfortunates who are enduring all the vicissitudes of a summer vacation? Send in your money now!

THE BREMEN.

A capital ship for an ocean trip
Is the Bremen with Ziegenbein;
At a furious clip she leaves the slip
And arrives 'twixt the soup and wine.

The Bremen made the crossing in 4 days and 17 hours, but is still to demonstrate that she can refuel in the air.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Russia Is But One State in a Union. Abbreviated Form for the U. S. S. R. Is "Soviet Union."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial, "Renewed Peace Hopes," refers several times to the foreign relations of "Russia" and "Soviet Russia" and especially to the foreign relations of "Russia" with the government of China.

In the interest of public information it is unfortunate to use these phrases. Russia is merely a state in the union of socialist soviet republics. The state of Russia has no more diplomatic relations with other countries than does the state of Prussia in the German republic or the State of New York in the United States of America.

The Union of Socialist Soviet Republics was established in December, 1922. It consists of six republics, of which the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic is one state. The other states are: Ukrainian Socialist Soviet Republic, White Russia Socialist Soviet Republic, Transcaucasian Socialist Soviet Republic, Uzbek Socialist Soviet Republic and Turcoman Socialist Soviet Republic. All of these republics are united into one central authority, the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. It is the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics that is having the present dispute with the government of China and which has diplomatic relations with other countries.

I believe the United States Postoffice Department has issued a statement to the effect that letters intended for points in Russia must carry the address, "Union of Socialist Soviet Republics."

The Soviet Union Year Book, which purports to give official information regarding the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, uses the abbreviated form "Soviet Union," but reference to the foreign relations of either "Russia" or "Soviet Russia" is incorrect.

JULIAN PIERCE.

Farm Fire Losses Amount to More Than the Entire Annual Cost of the Department of Agriculture.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to an article published by the National Fire Waste Council, the annual loss from fires on farms in the United States amounts to $150,000,000. Preventable losses, 75 to 90 per cent of the total, consume three times as much as is needed to finance the United States Department of Agriculture, employing 20,000 people. The value of human lives lost can not be measured and thousands of animals are compelled to suffer the torture of death by burning.

Lightning is given as the largest single cause of fires on farms. Fires caused by sparks igniting roofs, by carelessess with matches, by smoking in barns, by careless use of gasoline and kerosene and in many other ways could be almost entirely eliminated if farmers were made to appreciate the danger and given information on prevention. Spontaneous combustion could often be avoided by care in the disposal of oiled rags and precautions in handling open lights. Serious fires have had their origin in carelessness in disposal of hot ashes. Open fires, not protected with suitable screens, are a menace.

We can afford to give some thought to the matter of fire protection generally and especially to the protection of helpless creatures. Are the laws adequate and are they enforced?

High Cost of Postage Stamps. Who Gets the Profit?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Why is it that the machines which contain United States postage stamps sell these stamps at a profit? No individual would be permitted to buy a large number of postage stamps and sell them at a profit. The two-cent stamps are sold at the rate of two for five cents out of these machines, which is a profit of a half a cent a stamp. This method of selling the stamps is very sanitary, yet many individuals would rather buy the stamps at the regular price, disregarding the sanitation side of the matter. It was necessary for me to buy twenty two-cent stamps late one evening, and the only ones I could find were those in a machine that sell two for five cents; consequently there was a profit of ten cents made from my purchase. Is this profit made in order to cover the cost of the machines or does it go to some individual?

A similar case of a very slight overcharge for two-cent stamps occurs in the purchase of a book of twos containing twelve stamps at the cost of twenty-five cents. It is easy to understand the reason for this price; the stamps are put up in a very convenient manner, and the extra charge is made for the purpose of covering the cost of the material used in the book. The extra charge in this method of sale is only one-twelfth of a cent per stamp, whereas in the machine sale of stamps it is one-half of a cent per stamp.

INQUISITIVE.

Let There Be Solemnity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This is the only time in my life I have ever been moved to address the "Letters to the Editor" column.

I do it to commend the artistry of the person who wrote a true story of what happens when camera men and radio announcers stage-manage a President, and to commend the courage of the editor who published the article, "Speech of Hoover Drowned by Noise."

I noticed with pleasure that the society department account coincided with the front page article, and was equally refreshing and vivid in its apt and accurate description. Yours for some semblance of solemnity on solemn occasions.

What's the Difference.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: One trouble with services which the Government rightly conducts at a loss is a disposition to pay no attention to how much the loss is.

Distinguished Visitors Flock To Capital

Influx Will Continue As Long As Hoover Stays in City.

By JEAN ELIOT.

SO long as the President remains in residence at the White House, Washington will remain the goal for distinguished guests from all parts of the world. For every visitor of official rank wishes to pay his respects to our comparatively new Chief Executive.

In the last few weeks there have been a dozen different dignitaries from a dozen different countries, who have been received by President Hoover, and several more are expected next week.

The Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina will go to New York today to meet the former's brother and sister-in-law, Senor and Senora Carlos de Diez de Medina, who are arriving for a short visit in this country and will come to Washington early next week to remain several days. They are on their way to Paris. Senor Carlos de Diez de Medina, who is a former minister of finance of Boliva, visited the United States several years ago on his way to the Orient and made a comprehensive tour of the States.

Presumably President Hoover will give audience to this distinguished visitor and also to Col. Garcia Granados, chief of the Guatemalan Army Aviation Academy, who is expected here on Monday or Tuesday to be the guest of the Minister of Guatemala, Senor Don Adrian Recinos. The minister will give a luncheon for Col. Granados while he is in town.

The colonel is flying from Guatemala to Washington, with stopovers in several Guatemalan provinces and also in Havana. His departure was witnessed by President Lazaro of Guatemala and a distinguished diplomatic and official gallery.

At present, moreover, the Minister of Finland, Mr. Astrom, has with him at the legation a distinguished feminine guest, his sister, Miss Emma Astrom, of Helsingfors, Finland.

Miss Astrom is the president of the Nurses Association of Finland and attended the fourth congress of the International Council of Nurses, held in Montreal from July 2 to 13. On behalf of the delegates from Europe, Miss Astrom delivered the concluding address at the conference. Her stay in Washington will be brief as she will represent Finland at the meeting of the Inter-Scandanavian Council of Nurses to be held in August in Aarhus, Denmark.

With the President entertaining a stag party—his first—at his camp on the Rapidan, Mrs. Hoover has slipped away for a week-end visit, her destination unannounced. Details of the economy measures to be introduced into the military establishment of the United States are to be discussed by Mr. Hoover's camping party, which includes not only the Secretary of War, Mr. James W. Good, but the Assistant Secretaries of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley and Mr. F. Trubee Davison, and Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff. The President's other guests are the Secretary of the Interior, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Mr. George Akerson, Col. Campbell Hodges and Commander Joel T. Boone.

Before leaving town yesterday afternoon, the President and Mrs. Hoover had Mr. Alexander P. Moore, U. S. Ambassador to Peru, as a luncheon guest at the White House.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker Smith, of Washington and Cincinnati, have closed their apartment on New Hampshire avenue and have sailed for Newfoundland and Labrador, where they will pass the rest the summer. Mr. Walker Smith was for many years in the American Diplomatic Service.

The American Association of University Women will have Miss Ethel Myers as hostess in the clubhouse, 1634 I street, on Monday afternoon. There will be bridge as usual at 3 o'clock followed by tea at 4:30 o'clock.

Visitors to Washington and guests at Tilden Hall are Mr. H. H. Valiquet, of Chicago, Ill.; Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Allison, Selinsgrove, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wagner, Mora, Minn., and Mr. George Alan Woods, New York.

Miss Mae H. Vance entertained at a bridge tea on Friday afternoon in compliment to Mme. Josephine de Lagnel and Mrs. Harry L. Vance, of Cleveland, Ohio.

The flowers used in the decorations were gathered from the garden.

Following the bridge party at 4 o'clock, about 35 guests arrived for a musical program. Miss Pauline Grunner sang, accompanied by Miss Colburn.

Tea was served in the pergola on the lawn.

Mme. Regina de La Tour Drown presided at the tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jones, of Ebensburg, Pa., have motored to Washington and are at the Grace Dodge Hotel.

Many at Sea, Europe-Bound, For Summer

Copelands to Be Abroad Until October; Many Diplomats Sail.

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland with their son, Mr. Royal Copeland, jr., sailed yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner, Bremen, for Europe, where they will remain until Otocber. Mrs. Copeland and her son have been at their summer home at Suffern, N. Y., since the early part of the summer and the Senator has joined them when he could leave Washington.

The Hungarian Minister, Count Lazzio Szechenyi, who has passed the greater part of the summer in Newport with his family, sailed yesterday on the Ile de France. Count Szechenyi postponed his trip to Europe in order that he might represent his country at the formal proclamation of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

On the same ship were the retiring Minister of Roumania, M. George Cretziano, with his daughter, Mlle. Jeanne Cretziano, and Mr. J. H. van Royen, jr., son of the Minister of the Netherlands and Mme. van Royen. He has been in this country for several months, visiting on the West Coast, and is now returning to Holland, where he will join his parents for a time before they return to Washington.

Dr. Charles W. Richardson will go next week to Duxbury, Mass., to be with Mrs. Richardson for the month of August. Mrs. William D. Chandler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richardson, is also at Duxbury while Commander Chandler is on duty on the U. S. S. Florida, on which the midshipmen are making the summer cruise. Commander and Mrs. Chandler's daughter, Miss Amy Chandler, has as her guests at Duxbury the Misses Mildred, Alice and Katherine Huston, daughters of Mr. Claudius Huston.

Miss Polly Cooke, who has until recently been with Miss Chandler, is now visiting in Newport before rejoining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cooke, at their summer home at Hyannisport, Mass.

Next week Miss Cooke will have Miss Anne Wyant, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Adam Wyant, as her guest at Hyannisport, returning later with Miss Wyant to Greensburg, Pa., home of Mr. and Mrs. Wyant for a visit.

Miss Bessie Hickey has returned to Washington after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thomas Mann at their summer home at Coolidge Point, near Magnolia, Mass.

Miss Frances Davis and Miss Morena Castanien, of Columbus, Ohio, are guests at the Hamilton Hotel. En route to Washington they stopped over at Virginia Beach. They will return home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnston, of Oak Park, Ill.; Mrs. M. A. Bonney, of Burbank, Calif., and Mrs. E. A. Young, of Clinton, Iowa, are motoring extensively in the East and are staying at the Grace Dodge Hotel while in Washington.

Mrs. W. A. Warren and daughter, Louise, of Pisnada, Calif., are staying at the Hamilton. They will shortly go to Wausau, Wis., to visit Mrs Warren's brother, Mr. Claire Bird. En route to Washington they toured New York State and visited various northeastern points.

Nancy Hoyt has broken into print again with her latest book, "Bright Intervals"—and it appears to have much the same theme as her first two books "Roundabout" and "Unkind Star," which both dealt with the sophisticated younger set.

For Lydia, in "Bright Intervals," "could grade emeralds, choose decent wine, speak five languages, and mimic her elders and betters with deadly accuracy"—and yet she was curiously uneducated in some ways.

Nancy Hoyt (Mrs. Edward Curtis) and her husband and baby are pasing the summer in Europe—a custom Mrs. Curtis has followed for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bonner, of New York, are at Wild Rose Shores on South River, where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

Mrs. E. Lester Jones, of Washington, will be a guest at the Mayflower until the end of the week.

MRS. GERALD TRIMBLE,

Capital Folk Land Safely After Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan Have Adventures Aboard Yacht.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Buchanan have at last reached their summer home, The Dreamerie, an island in Parry Sound, Ontario, Canada, where they are established for the season.

Before arriving at their destination, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan suffered several mishaps aboard their newly purchased yacht, on which they made the cruise across Lake Erie. Twice, through the mismanagement of an inexperienced captain, the vessel narrowly escaped dangerous shoals. Once, the party was stranded without gasoline in the middle of the lake and had to be taken in tow by a passing tanker, and on yet another occasion the boat caught fire.

As a result of these occurrences, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan were delayed a week in Detroit while their yacht underwent repairs. They completed the trip with a new captain. After passing the summer at The Dreamerie, Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan will return to their home in Warrenton where they will be this autumn.

Mrs. E. D. Woodyard, of Spencer, W. Va., has returned to the Wardman Park Hotel for a short time.

$120,000,000 BANK CREDIT GAIN MADE

Reserve Board Announces Large Increase in Loans of Its Members.

SMALL MONEY FACTOR

(Associated Press.)

The total Reserve Bank credit outstanding on July 17 showed an increase of about $120,000,000 over the amount reported a month previously.

The Federal Reserve Board also announced yesterday that on the same date loans and investments of member banks showed an increase of about $400,000,000 over the amount reported at the end of May. The increase was said to be reflected chiefly in the rapid growth in loans to brokers and to dealers in securities and also some further increase in commercial loans.

Demand for additional Reserve Bank credit, the board found, was due chiefly to the increase in the volume of money in circulation due to the issuance of the small-sized currency.

The board reported that the output of automobiles and of iron and steel in June showed seasonable declines smaller than usual while there was increased productions of cement, leather and shoes. Production of copper at smelters declined sharply and the output of cotton and wool textiles also was reduced.

The volume of construction contracts awarded decreased further in June, the board said, and for the first half of the year showed a decline of 12 per cent from the 1928 figures.

Roumania's Princess May Wed Hohenlohe

Berlin, July 26 (A.P.).—Engagement of Princess Ileana of Roumania to Prince Gottfried Hohenlohe-Langenburg was rumored tonigat in court circles.

The prince, already related to the Roumanian royal house, was reported last winter engaged to Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, but it later appeared that inability to agree on a dowry would interfere with such a match. Mrs. Vanderbilt is the widow of Reginald Vanderbilt.

Forest Fires Roar ThroughNorthwest

High Winds Increase Fury of Flames Devouring Mammoth Tracts.

Spokane, Wash., July 26 (A.P.).—Lashed by high winds, a score of forest fires tore through the timber of Washington, Idaho, and Montana today, ravaging many thousand of acres.

Near Dartford, Wash., a stiff breeze sent howling flames across forest and farm lands, leaping over fire lines and blasting 11,000 acres. At Marcus 2,000 acres were burned over. Heavy forces of fire fighters strove to check blazes near Republic and North Port.

An emergency crew was dispatched to the Pack River country of North Idaho, near Sandpoint, and 100 more fighters hastened by motor from Spokane. From Montana came reports of uncontrolled fires in the Kootenai, Bitter Root, Lolo, Nez Perce and Blackfoot forests.

In southern Idaho additional men were sent from Boise to fight a fire raging in the Boise forest, north of Lowman. The crown fire raced through timber killed by bark beetles. Unchecked fires razed timber in the Challis and Lemhi forests. Strong winds like blacksmiths' bellows blew up half a dozen conflagrations, sending them out of control.

KansasCity Banker Ends Life; Shortage Reported

Kansas City, July 26 (A.P.).—James T. Franey, president of the Kansas City Bankers Club and until ten days ago vice president of the Liberty National Bank, committed suicide today by shooting himself through the heart in the directors' room of the bank.

FARM SALES CONCERN PROPOSED BY BOARD

lines, and terminal cooperative sales agencies operating in central markets.

In the press statement it was pointed out that upward of 40 per cent of all grain marketed in the country is marketed cooperatively at country elevators.

"The Federal Farm Board believes," the statement read, "that one of its jobs under the agricultural marketing act is to develop and strengthen the farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperative institutions for marketing the farmer's crops, and that it is the province of the board to use the funds and authority delegated to it for this purpose.

"The board therefore proposed to the representatives of the farmer-owned grain associations and pools that, as part of a long time program for the development of agriculture, all of them join in the creation of a sales corporation with an ultimate paid-up capital of not less than $20,000,000. This corporation would operate for all grain cooperatives in all markets of the United States and foreign countries for the collective selling of such portion of the grain crops so are now or may hereafter be, marketed cooperatively at country points."

Today's meeting was the first the farm board has held outside of Washington. The sessions will be continued tomorrow after which a few members of the board will return to the National Capital, the remainder joining Secretary of Agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, an ex-officio member of the board, at Baton Rouge, La., where the American Institute of Cooperation holds its annual meeting next week.

Those who will go to the Louisiana capital include Chairman Legge, Carl Williams and C. C. Teague.

Himalayan Lullaby on Air Tonight

Lily Strickland's Song to Be Given World Premier at 8; Russian and Oriental Music at 7; Mapp Talks Over WRC.

As a contrast with the night before, static conditions last night changed from fair to bad.

A new composition by the American composer, Lily Teresa Strickland, will have its world premiere as a feature of the Nation-wide broadcast of the General Electric Hour at 8 o'clock. The latest Strickland work is "Himalayan Mountain Lullaby," which she composed during her ten-year residence in India and the Orient. With Nat Shilkret conducting the symphony orchestra, assisting soloists will be Robert Simmons, tenor, and the Ballad Singers Quartet under the leadership of George Dilworth. The complete program follows:

"Florinda," Burgmein. "Brasilienne," Codard; "Little Boy Blue," tenor solo; "Shepherd Boy," Grainger; "Danse Macabre," Saint-Saens; "a Capriceuse," Edgar; Gershwin Medley of Favorite Melodies, orchestra, tenor and quartet; "Mexican Jarabe," typical dance; "Himalayan Mountain Lullaby," Strickland; overture to "Mignon," Thomas; selection from "The Pearl Fishers," Bizet, tenor solo; "Country Dance," two pianos and orchestra; "Lonesome Road," Shilkret, violin solo, quartet, and tenor; "Air de Ballet," Herbert; and "Marche Slav," Tschaikowsky.

A broadcast of Russian and Oriental music features the weekly radio march of The Calvacade at 7 o'clock. World-famous composers of Russia and the Orient are represented in the selections, which will be interpreted by a glittering array of famous radio soloists, including Devora Nadworney, contralto; Nicholas Vasilieff, tenor; Prince Alexis Obolensky, basso; Sarat and Lota Lahiri, Hindu music specialists, Sven von Hallberg, guitar virtuoso, and a recent concert orchestra under the direction of Hugo Mariani.

G. Walter Mapp, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in Virginia, will be the speaker from WRC at 7:45 o'clock.

Ludwig Laurier will conduct the program of slumber music at 10 o'clock, as follows:

Overture to "Beautiful Galathea," Suppe; selection from "The Connecticut Yankee," Rodgers; "Toujours Galant," Fahrbach; "Tales from the Vienna Woods," Strauss; "Des Abends," Sinding, and "Cradle Song," Weissmann.

The Goldman Band concert, to be broadcast from the campus of New York University over WJZ at 7:45 o'clock tonight, will feature the brass and wood-wind players. Del Staigers has selected "Rock of Ages" for his solo cornet number. Rosalie Wolfe, soprano, will be the soloist during the brief intermission.

Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, and Fred Morris Fieker, of New York, will be the speakers during the National Forum from Washington at 9 o'clock. Their subject will be "The Census of Merchandise Distribution Regarded As One of the Greatest Steps Taken By the Government For Stabilizing Present Business Conditions in This Country."

Jesse Crawford's Melody Hour will be heard from 9:30 to 10 o'clock, followed by an hour of dance music.

Jeanette Leipziger, the thirteen-year-old pianist who has been heard in short recitals through WOL, will be on the air at 6:45 o'clock this evening with another program. Miss Leipziger has selected numbers from Paderewski, MacDowell and Durant.

A dance program and the Silver String Revelers at 8 o'clock round out the evening program.

WJSV will present another "New Talent" night from 6 o'clock until midnight. Anyone desiring an audition may arrange for it by calling at the studios, 339 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, or by telephone through Metropolitan 1070.

Bran Hughes' orchestra will open the program with a group of dance numbers. Mr. Hughes will also celebrate his sixth anniversary as an orchestra leader at that time. The Boys' Independent Band will be presented at 7:30 o'clock in a 45-minute program. The bandmaster, C. J. Brown, jr., is just 15 years old and many of the boys are much younger. The band has 70 members and is made up of youngsters from all parts of Washington. A cornet solo, "Idle Fancy," will be played by Ernest Lenzer, 10 years of age.

Miss Mae Felka, who was heard last Saturday evening, will give two or three dramatic readings. The Franklin Park Entertainers, from Franklin Park, Va., are scheduled for 8:30 o'clock. These are Miss Dorothy Stalcup, violinist; Miss Frances Stalcup, mandolin; Mrs. Mary Sullivan, pianist; and Mr. Carl Conrad, baritone.

George Reid, announcer at WJSV, will do several short character parts, impersonating the Virginia Judge. The hour from 10 to 11 o'clock will be devoted exclusively to new talent.

The Silver String Revelers will play "Breakaway," "Do Something," "Bouquet of Memories," "Kansas City Kitty," "I'll Always Be in Love With You," "Some Sweet Day" and "Broadway Melody" among other numbers.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

"LEO."

If July 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2 p. m., from 3:30 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger period is from 9:15 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.

Your reactions to the very positive astrological influences on this day will be unusual. It will be a period of contradictions, and you will act contrary to previous intentions. Your back will be turned on tradition and custom and many of your old habits will be broken.

Children born on this day will demand considerable love and attention, and their winning personalities will probably secure these for them. Their persistency will be a marked trait, and they will stubbornly hang on until they have won that for which they are fighting.

The charm of your personality lies in your naturalness. You are simple, sincere and spontaneous. Your bluntness of speech is at times disarming, but your unstudied candor is usually received with delight and amusement. You never intentionally say things to hurt or belittle.

The strength of your character lies in your common-sense. You are too practical and sane-minded to do silly things. You are not easily illuded, and you are not given to pretences. You do not easily lose your nerve, and are never hysterical in an emergency.

The woman born on this date is very attractive to those of both sexes on account of her real sympathy. She is able to take a genuine interest in one's joys, troubles and humdrum doings, and does not want to talk about herself. She is a very good listener. The man who chooses her for a life companion will find her more than a 50-50 partner. She will do more than her share to make the union a happy and an agreeable one.

If you are a man, you are not as sympathetic or understanding as those of the opposite sex. You demand much more from others with less returns. Although a very able and willing talker, you are rather disinterested in the affairs of others, and few can hold your attention for long.

Successful people born July 27:
Alexander Macomb, merchant.
John Warren, physician.
Herman Knickerbocker, lawyer.
Thomas Say, naturalist.
Cyrus Thomas, scientist.
George Foster Peabody, banker.

Firm Will Teach Use Of Radio

Department Created to Acquaint Educators With Applications of Microphone to Work in School and Home.

Realizing the value of radio in schools of all kinds—elementary, preparatory, university, music and dancing—Ray S. Erlandson, a Washingtonian, formerly assistant secretary of the National Education Association, has created something new to the radio industry. Mr. Erlandson has just created an education department for the Grigsby-Grunow Co., large radio manufacturers of Chicago. This department's function will be to fully acquaint educators in the many applications of the radio to instruction of every kind and to provide methods of installation that permit wide variety of uses.

Mr. Erlandson's teaching experience includes a one-room rural school, principal of an elementary school at Chippewa Falls, Wis.; teacher of the Milwaukee State Teachers College and instructor at River Falls State Teachers College, both in Wisconsin and more recently he was president of the Associated Exhibitors of the National Education Association.

In commenting upon the new department, Mr. Erlandson says: "In establishing this educational department we recognize the great educational value which radio possesses. Within the space of a few years the radio has become accepted as a basic educational tool. It not only makes of every classroom an auditorium, but it makes of every home a school.

"We recognize that it is just as important to educate the children to recognize quality in radio, in order that the music that comes to them shall be a faithful reproduction of the original, as it is to educate them in the value of good food or in the care of their teeth.

"The possibilities of the radio have not been fully realized, either as an entertaining feature or as an educational instrument. One of the functions of the newly created educational department will be to carry on investigation and research in this new marvel of the age.

"The Grigsby-Grunow Co. has been particularly active in the field of educational institutions because of the suitability of the Majestic radio-phonograph combination for this work. The use of two of the type-250 power tubes as the final stage of amplification feeding Majestic's super-dynamic speaker, makes its possible to entertain or instruct a large audience of several thousand people without distortion of the reproducion, yet this magnificent result can be instantly reduced to that suitable for a small roomful of listeners. Dancing and music teachers have found the phonograph feature of incalculable value for giving large classes music of a definite type. Smaller schools have found the model 92, consisting of a radio set only, of great value in bringing in the many educational programs now being broadcast."

In making 116 concert appearances and traveling more than 40,000 miles in less than a year, Graham McNamee, he confessed the other day, lost touch with many of the programs which were being broadcast from the studios in New York.

Now that his duties require his presence in the studios each week, however, he is getting acquainted with them. McNamee has become the most regular spectator of them all. Several nights a week he puts in two or three hours wandering from one studio to another, listening, asking questions, and meeting new artists.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

COLDS FOLLOW THE FLAG.

Macauley, the historian, was a believer in the contagiousness of colds, but he had some difficulty in converting Samuel Johnson to his opinion, as did Austin Flint with the medical profession when he made the common cold and its contagiousness the subject of his presidential address to the American Medical Association in 1884.

Macauley wrote as a fact that whenever a ship arrived at St. Hilda, Hebrides Islands, all the inhabitants caught cold within a few days. This Samuel Johnson pronounced ridiculous. However, he investigated the subject and became convinced that Macauley was right. Whereupon he retreated and apologized to the historian.

There are several well authenticated instances proving that colds spread quickly and universally when the infection is brought to an isolated community which is customarily free from this infection so widespread among us. Some of these illustrations have come from the arctics.

When explorers have found a hitherto unknown band of Eskimos they have almost handed them this contagion, and the new disorder has quickly spread to every member of the village. The world is familiar with the introduction of measles in the Fiji Islands in 1875. One hundred per cent of the population contracted the disease and three-fourths of them died from it. It is not generally known that this experience was almost duplicated in 1907. Between 1875 and 1907 most of the people who had recovered from measles in 1875 had died from other diseases, and therefore only a minority of the population were immune. For the second time measles was introduced, rate among those who had it was even higher than was that of 1875.

Dr. S. F. Dudley, who supplied these illustrations, considers that the 1918 world epidemic of influenza was a by-product of the more than four years of world war. During this horrible experience the infection gained virulence and the mass of people lost herd immunity. When the field had been prepared the contagion swept the world, the number killed far exceeding those killed by bullets. The battle losses for the world war by nations and in proportion to population are now available. So far as destruction of population is concerned, Serbia led with a loss of 26 per cent of total inhabitants.

The United States was at the other end with a loss of ½ of 1 per cent. Germany, France and Great Britain were in between with losses ranging around 3 to 5 per cent. These losses are trivial compared with the Fiji loss of 75 per cent from measles in 1875. Contagious disease is far more destructive to life than the bullets on a battle field.

1. I have recently discovered that my right hip is higher than my left. This is due, I think, to faulty posture while growing. Could this fault be corrected in any way?

1. I think you are right. An examination will probably show that you have a spinal curvature and this throws your shoulders and hips out of plumb. Can you take correctional exercises in some gym? Doing this should help, provided you have not had a tubercular spine or something like that.

I know of no method of cure except such exercises.

2. About 150 pounds.

DOES NOT THIN BLOOD.

Mrs. J. R. S. writes: I have taken yeast cakes (two a day) for two or three months during the winter for the last few years and they seem to keep my system in splendid condition.

A friend of mine says that she was advised not to take them as they would make her blood too thin.

Please let me have your opinion on this.

REPLY.

I know of no proof that taking yeast makes the blood thin.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Lovely ladies wear the minimum of clothing for summer but do not forfeit the necessary support. These are Dah-ray Designs for summer lingerie.

How many crimes against loveliness are committed in the name of coolness! Comfort is no excuse for vulgarity, you know. Instead, a truly lovely lady compromises between that which is necessary and that which is absolutely necessary. Comprenez? Well, if not, let me explain.

"Necessary" lingerie for a lovely lady consists of a garment, which supports the bust; another, which supports the hips; one to support the stockings; a vest to be worn underneath all, and some sort of bloomers or step-ins to be worn over all.

But these need not all be separate garments! That which can not be readily obtained already made, we make! And "absolutely necessary" lingeries consists of the kind of brassiere-vest we illustrate for you today, the kind of garter-girdle illustrated, and the kind of step-ins illustrated. Make them yourself from the sketch if you can not find them already made! And try such a lingerie arrangement for summer, just once.

• • • •

In case you don't feel like tackling them all alone, get a stamped, self-addressed envelope ready to send to us next week for the illustrated leaflet, which will tell you exactly how to make each one of these three pieces of summer lingerie.

The sunning garter-girdle, made of ribbon and garters. The brassiere-vest, all one garment, and the step-ins, which take three inches less than three-quarters of a yard of material.

Have you ever experimented with colored powders and the eye-colorings that are on the market? I mean for evening and everyday wear, too, not just for the stage.

They make your eyes seem larger, if your eyes are small, and if they are large they deepen them and add brilliance. Brown eyes call for the brown coloring, especially light brown eyes. In general match the color of your eyes with this eye-paste—green for green eyes.

Walking dresses for morning wear, like sport dresses, show varicolored fichus, points or squares, in which three, four or five shades of the same color are combined. Some of these patterns are of the tartan kind, and others are in stripes or dots, but the majority have geometrical designs.

Princess is the season's leading pink, and has a decided peach caste. A shade like this is extremely flattering to all types, because it blends with nearly all complexions and harmonizes with nearly all pastel shades. In shoes and hats especially is it far more flattering than white.

WORK'S BRIDGE

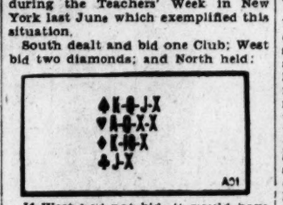
CONTRACT BRIDGE.

The most important case of a double which is informatory in Contract but which would be business in Auction, is a double of one or two of a suit after partner has previously bid a suit; the change arose because of the importance of showing two-suiters in Contract. In the newer game it is not always possible to make the Auction informatory overcall of the adverse suit (for example: South one Club, West one Diamond, North two Diamonds—North's bid being the equivalent of an informatory double), because in Contract such a bid would mean a probable slam at the original declaration and no losing tricks in the adverse overcalled suit.

In Contract, bids of one and two rarely are doubled for business and therefore all such West bids as: South one club, West one Diamond; South two Clubs, West two Diamonds; or South one Diamond, West two Clubs; can be doubled informatorily by North to show the other two suits. A hand was dealt in one of the matches during the Teachers' Week in New York last June which exemplified this situation.

South dealt and bid one Club; West bid two diamonds; and North held:



If West had not bid, it would have been North's clear duty to bid three No Trumps; but after West's two Diamonds, North having that suit stopped only once, it looked as if the best declaration for North and South would be Spades or Hearts, whichever South could support the better. And so it proved; at the tables where North bid No Trump or Spades, his side failed to go game; but where North doubled, South, who had four Hearts headed by the Jack-Ten and only two Spades, was delighted to have the chance to choose Hearts, and North and South made game without difficulty.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

Dolores Del Rio, whose personal popularity has been infinitely strengthened by her gracious manner during a week of personal appearances at the Columbia and a subsequent week of social activity in and about Washington, has checked out of Wardman Park and is now in Milwaukee, Wis., although I understand her heart remains in Baltimore.

Having concluded his conference with the gentlemen of the Internal Revenue Bureau and she her horseback riding in Rock Creek Park, Mr. Irving Thalberg, the juvenile production manager of M-G-M, and his wife, Miss Norma Shearer, star of that company's flickers, have proceeded on to New York. The family exchequer ought to be able to stand the strain of the cross-continent jaunt since Mr. Thalberg's salary is said to approximate a half-million a year and Mrs. Thalberg's to be I don't know what!

Incidentally, Sam Rubin, the cherubic publicist of the Loew houses in Washington, has been awarded the croix de something or other by his bosses, and a stunning gold combination fountain pen and pencil by Miss Del Rio, in appreciation of the high-power publicity campaign he put on for the visiting Mexicans during her week of appearances at the Columbia. Miss Del Rio's picture was published 42 times locally in the seven-day period—and that's pretty good, considering how tight the gentlemen of the press—and the ladies—are. Or are they?

Al Jolson, the big music and mammy man—and a socalled native son, to boot—is on his way to the Metropolitan screen in his latest Warner Brothers talking and singing picture, "Say It With Songs." Two pictures away, so I hear.

Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell, since we are speaking of such, are headed for the Fox in "Lucky Star," their first talking vehicle, said to be on a par with "Street Angel" and "Seventh Heaven."

At the Columbia the hot number next in prospect is "Bulldog Drummond," the talking picture that is said to multiply Ronald Colman's importance as a screen star by at least 1,000.

John J. Payette, who becomes general manager of the Warner Brothers' Washington interests on August 1 and William C. Ewing, in charge of the public relations department, returned from a brief junket to New York yesterday.

Charles Hampden, according to grapevine rumor that reaches these tired ears, is to repeat his successful personal embellishment of last week's bill at the Earle in others of the Stanley-Crandall-Warner houses in the Capital, beginning with the Ambassador.

Universal has issued invitations—very trickily gotten up, by the way—to the premiere showing in Washington of "Broadway," at the Tivoli Theater, Sunday morning, August 4, at 11 o'clock. Why will the boys persist in throwing these parties in the middle of the night?

Speaking of parties, the Capital City Theater Organists Club last Tuesday tossed one at a nearby river resort—Severn, not Potomac—at which a pleasant time seems to have been had by all. You should see the panoramic photo Irene Juno left on my desk yesterday afternoon! With a little retouching, perhaps you will.

In case you entertain an overweening desire to meet all of the motion picture stars, the first step is to take care never to become a photoplay editor. In two weeks this column could not find it possible to meet Miss Del Rio, for two days it was similarly defrauded of the pleasure of meeting Miss Shearer and now I learn that Herbert Rawlinson, debonair m. c. at the Palace, dropped in a day or two ago while I was out missing the other two. My old Bubonic Plague hasn't been so good the last couple of days, either.

What P. M., tab rag-eteerss was it who said both Mr. Rawlinson and John Irving Fisher, m. c. at the Fox, were on their way six or eight weeks ago?

Never mind. It's too hot!

A Little Saturday Talk

The other day I talked with a 17-year-old boy named Billy White, in a lodge near the shore of Lake Tahoe, Calif.

"When Lindbergh was here," said Billy, "I was his official guide."

"What did you think of Lindy?" I asked.

"He was very quiet. He wouldn't say much. The only time he talked was when he was asked questions, and even then he did not say much—except when he talked about motors. Then he talked so deep that I did not understand very much. He stood by me so that we could have our picture taken."

The hide of a huge brown bear was near us, and I asked Billy whether he had ever seen any bears around Lake Tahoe. He replied that he had been with a party of hunters, and that they had killed three bears—two small ones and a very large one.

I asked him to tell me more about the bear adventure, and this is the most interesting part of this account.

"There were two university football players with me, and we had just shot a small bear (a cub about a year old). Then suddenly we heard a noise of something rushing through the underbrush. Looking toward the noise, we saw a great big brown bear racing toward us.

"We all started to run. One of the football players hid behind a boulder and the other one climbed a tree. Both of them dropped their guns.

"I wanted to hide behind a boulder, but I thought the bear would catch up to me before I reached it. I turned, and the bear was about fifteen yards away. She reared up on her haunches and I fired. The bullet struck just above her heart, and she fell over. Three more bullets killed her."

Billy told me that he had used an Austrian rifle during the bear hunt. Under such circumstances, I think he had good fortune to come out alive.

Today's True Detective Story

By VANCE WYNN

The Hunter and the Hunted

From the day that crime first was committed the hunter and the hunted have stirred the imagination of men.

Hence there is wonderful human interest in the story of how Vidocq, the great detective, and Fossard, the great criminal, matched wits in a case that attracted the attention of the people of Paris.

When the curator of the Bibliotheque Royale came to that historic museum one Monday morning he was shocked to discover that a number of rare and valuable medals had been stolen. The police were notified, but they were helpless, as the police often are on such occasions.

The loss was so unusual that Vidocq, the "father of detectives," was called into consulation, and he personally took charge of the case. Now, as everybody knows, Vidocq had once been a thief himself and was perfectly familiar with their ways and their methods. The first thing he did was what the police of this generation would do. He made a tour of the pawnshops in the hope of finding some of the stolen property. After several days he discovered a number of the medals in a place on the Rue Madame. The proprietor was able to give him a good description of the man who had pledged the articles and even before he had concluded talking the detective had drawn his conclusions.

"The man who stole the medals," he said, "was Fossard. Your description fits him precisely, and besides the means that were used to get them were such as only Fossard would use."

The second move was to get Fossard. That was not so easy because this particular criminal was a desperate character who cared nothing for human life and had no respect for authority. Moreover, it was not so easy to locate Fossard because he lived here, there and everywhere. But Vidocq was not the man to be daunted and he had exceptional facilities at his disposal.

In the end he found that his man was making his headquarters at a plain-looking house on the Rue Poissonniere. It was the business of the detective to gain entrance to that house and find out all that he could concerning the character of its inmates.

Vidocq had the dramatic instinct. His methods were rarely direct. He believed that the longest way round is often the shortest way home. So he disguised himself as a charcoal seller. His face was black and his clothing was shabby. In this guise he called at the dwelling, and the door was opened by a little hump-backed girl who acted as servant for the famous thief. He sold her some charcoal and he made it his business to give her good measure. Soon he got to be a regular caller at the house. In a word, he wormed his way into the good graces of the poor slavey without letting her know his identity. One day Fossard came in while the detective was there. Terrified, the girl hid him behind the curtains. The man had the strength of a giant, so that Vidocq did not think it wise to tackle him single-handed.

But he made a plan with the girl by which she was to lift the yellow shade on the curtain of her room to let him know when the thief was at home. All of his plans were made now, and one morning when the detective and two of his husky assistants were waiting on the other side of the street the window shade was raised. Instantly the trio hurried into the house. They hastened to the room occupied by Fossard. The burly fellow was in bed and when the door of the room was opened he roared: "Shut that door or I'll kill you!"

But they did not shut the door. On the contrary, the three men jumped on the giant at once, and managed to bind him hand and foot.

"There is no use kicking, Fossard," exclaimed Vidocq, "your day has arrived. You have been conquered by a better man than yourself."

Selling Orders Swamp Stock Market After Good Opening.

CALL FUNDS 9 PER CENT

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—The stock market turned emphatically downward today, as week-end liquidation was augmented by uneasiness over credit and marked bear pressure.

The market opened fairly strong, under the stimulus of the Bethlehem Steel dividend action and an unusually favorable quota of earnings statements, but was soon swamped with selling orders. Declines were largely moderate, however, and the day's turnover barely exceeded 3,500,000 shares.

Call money held at 9 per cent all day, but a sharp firming of time money rates, the shorter maturities loaning at 8½ per cent, was a cheerless development. Bankers said that the August 1 credit requirements would probably not be severe. With the extreme sensitiveness of the money market, however, only a moderate shifting of balances is required to cause a flurry in rates.

Rumors, with no apparent foundation, that the Federal Reserve would issue another credit warning, was rather upsetting to the more excitable elements of speculative circles, since the upturn of $95,000,000 in brokers' loans and the scarcity of funds seemed to lend plausibility.

Laid to Bearish Sources.

Wall street generally, however, was inclined to attribute this talk to bearish sources, and was disposed to believe that the Federal Reserve could ill afford to put further brakes on credit at a time when the crops are beginning to move.

Bearish operations were aided in the afternoon by a swift downturn on the grain markets, but the day's business news remained largely favorable, including several more good earnings reports. The week-end reviews again stressed the high rate of industrial activity for this time of year, and stated that preparations are being made for extraordinarily active autumn retail trade.

Bethlehem Steel was heavily bought in response to the raising of the annual dividend rate to $6 from $4, and its excellent second quarter earnings. The stock was sent up more than 5 points to a record price at 124½, in a turnover of more than 180,000 shares. U. S. Steel, directors of which will meet for the quarterly report and dividend action on Tuesday, rose about 3 points, then lost half its gain. Youngstown Sheet and Tube tumbled 7 points in a small turnover.

American Telephone Up 6½.

American Telephone rose 6½ points to a record price at 273, but fell back to 269 when it was reported that there is no near prospect of a stock split-up or offer of rights. General Electric was sent up 13 points to a new peak at 376, and Westinghouse Manufacturing sold up 6 points.

Baldwin Locomotive shot up 9 points on announcement of the 4-for-1 split up. Some of the office equipments were strong in response to the Federal Trade Commission's order against unfair price discrimination. Remington Rand reached a new top, and Underwood Elliott rose about 4 points.

Kreuger & Toll rose about 3 points in a heavy turnover, and a few of the utilities mounted up a couple of points or so to new tops, including North American, National Power & Light and General Gas & Electric A. Although motors were generally heavy, Auburn and Marmon made wide gains.

Profit Taking Among Rails.

Several of the rails encountered heavy profit taking, Delaware & Hudson and Lackawanna selling down as much as 4 and 5 points, while Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, Union Pacific and others lost 2 or 3 points. Macy lost about 7 points on announcement of granting of rights, and Allis Chalmers and Youngstown Sheet & Tube suffered equally wide losses.

Radio, after its sharp upturn of yesterday, fell back 6 points. Such shares as American Can, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Motors, and Western Union lost about 2 to 5 points. Cluett Peabody dropped about 4 points, to a new 1929 low on its unfavorable earnings statement, showing but 85 cents a share for the first half, against $2.51 in the like period of 1928.

After a brisk upturn of about 4 cents a bushel, wheat dropped on reports of beneficial rains in Canada, and closed about a cent a bushel net lower. Corn also lost about a cent. After an early advance, cotton closed a little lower.

Foreign exchanges firmed up sharply. The French franc reached a new 1921 high, at 3.91 15-16 cents, and sterling cables rose to $4.85¾. The Canadian dollar rose more than ¾ of a cent, to 99¾ cents.

BOND BUYING BRISK CONVERTIBLES GAIN

A. T. & T. 4½s Soar to New High at 191—Rails Are Rather Heavy.

FEDERAL LIST IS FIRMER

New York, July 26 (A.P.).—American Telephone & Telegraph convertible 4½s on a turnover of $4,005,000 par value, shot up 7½ points to a record high of 191 and closed at 189½ in today's irregular bond market. Trading, confined almost entirely to the speculative convertibles, was the heaviest so far this month, $16,511,000 par value bonds changing hands.

Time money was firmer, accounting for the further slump in trading in the gilt edge bonds. For the short maturities 8½ per cent was asked, while for the longer terms 8¼ was the ruling rate. Call money held at 9 all day. A further tightening of funds is looked for over the month-end. The market for bankers' acceptances was quiet, with 5⅛ per cent the asking rate for all dates.

A New York-Chicago syndicate was the high bidder for a new issue of $9,480,000 Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates.

The advance in American Telephone convertible 4½s followed the rise in the stock to a record high. International Telephone convertible 4½s in sympathy moved up to 169, but eased off under profit-taking to close at 166⅛ for a fractional gain.

The Cuba Cane Sugar debenture 8s and convertible 7s broke 4¾ and 3 points respectively, on the announcement of a drastic reorganization plan for the company. Both bonds mature on January 1 and it is proposed to offer one new 6 per cent participating bond and one new common share per $1,000 bond. Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s yielded 1¾ points of its recent sharp gain to profit taking. Ohio Public Service 7½s "A" dipped a point to a new low for the year at 110. Pressure continued to be exerted against American I. G. Chemical 5½s.

The rails were inclined to heaviness, after their recent spurt forward under stimulus of buying in the stock. Atchison convertible 4½s lost a point. New Haven debenture 4s declined a point to a new low for the year at 70½.

Kreuger & Toll enlivened the otherwise dull foreign list. They established a new high at 102¾ and closed at 102 for a net gain of 2½ points.

Practically the entire list of United States Government obligations advanced.

FRENCH CAN HOLD CUP BY DOUBLES VICTORY TODAY

FOUL HANDY BLOW IN RING

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Accounts of the prize fight between Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion, and Jackie Fields, in Detroit, betrays some irritation, because Mr. Dundee, having been stroked on the chin, and realizing that he was a very punk fighter anyway, fouled out in the second round, thus ceding the welterweight championship to Mr. Fields.

The sense of the assembly was that inasmuch as Mr. Dundee was guaranteed $50,000, he should have struggled along as best he could until such time as the other young man could fetch him another sharp tap and knock him unconscious. This would have been the traditional way, and the customers thought it a bit snide of Mr. Dundee to deny them the pleasure of seeing him hurt $50,000 worth.

But, while $50,000 may be regarded as a high price for less than two rounds of suffering, no blame attaches to Mr. Dundee for terminating the bout at his own discretion. This is one of the prerogatives that the customers have accorded the pugilists and the young man was simply asserting his rights.

Numerous Precedents for Quitting Are Cited.

He certainly had numerous precedents to justify his conduct, and he may have had in mind the two occasions on which Jess Willard quit. First, when he resigned the heavyweight championship while sitting in his corner, and again, some years later, when he knelt down before Luis Angel Firpo at Boyle's Thirty Acres, declining to get up on the sensible ground that he was fatigued, and, moreover, didn't believe he could lick Luis Angel.

It was hard to quarrel with Mr. Willard's decision in either case. In the first instance, he had a so.e jaw and a lump over one eye and the other party hit too hard. As a business man he knew what his contractural rights and obligations were at all times and he probably added up the punches he was catching until the last clip took him on the chin. I imagine he then said to himself, "That will be just an even $200,000 worth." As long as the customers leave it to the principals to determine when they have suffered to the full of their obligations, there will be sensitive boys capable of acute distress who will resign untimely, as Mr. Willard did, or foul out as Mr. Dundee and many others have done.

The boys need not feel unduly apologetic on account of such conduct, for they are only applying the fundamental rule of all business to give the least possible return for the greatest possible reward, in a line of activity that was long since absolved of any sporting character. They did about the same as a contractor would do if awarded a city contract to build a $2,000,000 prison, his own idea of $2,000,000 worth to be official and final. Under such conditions, the city would be likely to get a very simple little clapboard jail.

Willard More Honest About His Betting.

Mr. Willard was a little more honest than Mr. Dundee and numerous other chaps have been under similar circumstances, because he did not foul out. In fouling out, a fellow seeks to imply that he is still full of vigor and fight, but has had the misfortune to slice one.

There is a problem in moral values here. American pugilists would rather count out than surrender, but it is not at all unusual for British prize fighters to resign, or retire, to use the official expression, the foul being much more ignominious in their view. Mr. Eddie Kain, the manager of Sammy Mandel, was greatly amused one evening while attending some contests at the ring in London, when one of the chaps in the main event, being tapped a proper bash on the nose, put his hands to his face, exclaimed, "Oop! That's done in" and walked to his corner, amid cries of "Hear! Hear!" and "Well-tried, Evelyn Beverly Smith-Smith-Smith!"

The American ring has produced some boy who, by constant practice, learned to foul in a highly artistic manner. Fouling Phil Kaplan, the middleweight, is a boy who becomes nervous when thumped to any extent and when he is nervous he shoots in a low punch, exclaiming "Pardon me." Of course, he has been tossed out of several of the better rings for doing this, but many referees do not like to allow claims of foul. So the majority of his opponents have been forced to continued somewhat impaired.

Percentage Has Favored Fouling Phil.

The percentage has favored Fouling Phil in the long run, just as it favored

Diegel Leads Canada Open After 67

Clips 3 Strokes From Par to Lead Armour by 137 to 138.

Melhorn's 69 Gains Third Place After Playing 36 Holes.

By BRIAN BELL.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

KANAWAKI GOLF CLUB, Montreal, Que., July 26 (A.P.).—Leo Diegel, rushing home in characteristic Diegel fashion, shortly after sundown, took the lead in the Canadian open golf championship by shooting a brilliant 67, three under par, in the second round today. This sensational performance gave the three times champion a 36 holes total of 137, a stroke better than Tommy Armour had posted earlier in the afternoon.

Diegel's 67, following a par 70 yesterday, was the best performance of the second round by two strokes. Par was more elusive today than yesterday and until the pro from Mexico did his bit 69 was low for the day. One of the 69's fell to Tommy Armour, the 1927 champ, in the first round, giving him a total of 138.

Bill Mehlhorn, too, fired a 69 at the championship, a total of 140, giving him third place. Long Jim Barnes, the first round leader, fell away from 66 to 75 today and had to be satisfied with fourth place.

Young Pro Shoots Brilliant 69.

The other 69 was scored by Robert Mitchell, young pro from Massena, N. Y. This good score did not place him among the leaders, however, for he had a bad 79 as an opener.

Ernie Eakelam, Brockville, Ont., pro who was around in 68 yesterday, required 76 today and his total of 144 placed him in a tie for eighth place, a position shared by Harry Towlson, Ottawa pro.

Billy Burke, Westport, N. Y., was fifth and Horton Smith and Joe Kirkwood tied for sixth.

"Wiffy" Cox and Emmett French slipped in with the 144s and Walter Hagen, Jack Forrester and John Golden tied at 145. Ross Somerville, Canadan amateur, took the lead among the amateurs with a 36-hole card of 149. George Von Elm, Detroit, the first-round amateur leader, slumped to 79 today and had a half-way count of 150, a position shared by a number of well-known pros, including Gene Sarazen and Joe Turnesa.

The field was reduced tonight to fourscore survivors, who will go out tomorrow to play a final and deciding 36 holes. Only those able to negotiate the first 36 holes in 157 strokes remain in the competition.

Trick Cross Wirsl Hampers Some.

A tricky cross wind today made scoring harder on the Kanawaki course and many good golfers found all the opposition they wanted.

Diegel's great round was compiled after an inauspicious start. The champion was a stroke over par at the first hole, grabbed it back with a birdie at the second and then missed the short third green with his tee shot and took four. He did not yield to par again. There are three par five holes and he scored birdies at each. His only five of the round was at the par four first.

At the 450 fifth his mashie hit the pin and stopped a foot away, threatening to drop in for an eagle two. He slipped across the green at the 175 yards twelfth and into a trap, but he ran the ball out with his putter and rammed home a 20-foot putt for the par just the same.

"It's unfortunate they don't play these tournaments at 36 holes," said Diegel, after his round. "I'm the greatest half-way golfer in the world. I lead for the first 36 holes and then somebody else wins at the end of 72. Maybe I'll fool 'em tomorrow."

SOLONS BAN SCHMELING IN N. Y.

Failure to Box Scott Brings Action; Two Managers Barred.

NEW YORK, July 26 (A.P.).—The heavy hand of the New York State Athletic Commission swept Max Schmeling, young German heavyweight, and his American managers, Joe Jacobs and Bill McCarney, from the boxing rolls today until such time as they see fit to abide by the rulings of the fistic fathers.

On top of the indefinite suspensions meted out to all three almost two weeks ago because of Scmeling's refusal to honor a contract to box Phil Scott for Humbert J. Fugazy, the commission today filed the revocation of their licenses—Schmeling, as a boxer, and Jacobs and McCarney, as managers.

The action of the commission was the most drastic the board could take in the controversy that has developed between rival managers and promoters for the Teuton's ring services. The commission has ruled that Schmeling must honor the contract Fugazy holds before engaging in any other matches, and last Tuesday warned Bill Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, that both he and his organization faced indefinite suspension if any effort was made to match the German and Jack Sharkey for a heavyweight title go either here or in any other part of the United States.

Schmeling in Mid-West Barnstorming.

Schmeling, now barnstorming through the Mid-West with Jacobs and McCarney, has refused to box Scott because the contract was negotiated by his deposed manager, Arthur Buelow, who is still recognized here, however, as the German's legal manager. Buelow has been replaced in Schmeling's affections by Jacobs and McCarney.

Tigers Rout Red Sox, 4-1; Heilmann Stars

Boston, July 26 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers took the first game of the series with the Red Sox here today, 4 to 1, behind the steady pitching of Owen Carroll. Carroll allowed seven hits, while his teammates pounded Gaston for eleven, for a total of 23 bases.

Heilmann, with a double and a home run, the circuit clout in the ninth with one man on, led the hitting, while Fothergill's catch of Rothrock's long fly in the eighth was the fielding feature.

Philadelphia, July 26 (A.P.).—Howard Ehmke was in fine form today and held the White Sox to four hits, while the Athletics scored a 3-to-1 victory in the first game of the series. Ted Lyons ran into trouble at the start, yielding two runs in the first frame, but settled down and allowed only one hit after the third. The one blow was Jimmy Dykes' ninth homer of the year, which came in the seventh. Reynolds got half of Chicago's hits with a double and a

Miller Holds Nats; Tribe Wins, 4-2

Jones Pounded for 3 Runs in 2 Innings by Indians.

Hadley and Liska in Form; Southpaw Again Nemesis.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

PITCHER "Sad Sam" Jones yesterday celebrated anniversaries of two important events in his life—the thirteenth year of his marriage and the thirty-seventh of his birth—but the Indians evidently were celebrating something, too, and they did it in a bigger and better way and at Sam's expense, pounding him off of the hill in the second inning for enough runs to assure them of victory. The final score was: Cleveland, 4; Washington, 2.

The Indians scored three runs in the first two innings, and with the patient dead and the corpse buried, as things turned out, doctors instead of an undertaker, were sent for in the persons of Irving Hadley and Adolph Liska, and, although both performed well, they started on the job too late. Hadley showed a flash of his best form, yielding but three scattered hits and one run in six and one-third innings, while Liska sent the Indians down in order in the ninth.

The southpaw, Walter Miller, who yesterday turned in his eleventh triumph of the season and his fourth straight, held the Nationals in check practically all of the way. They managed to score two runs from his slants in the fourth and to get the tying runs on the bases in the eighth, only to blow this last opportunity.

Nat Miscues Give Tribe Winning Margin.

Had the Nats played the game strictly "according to Hoyle," their two-run total would have brought about a tie at the end of the regulation nine innings, but an error by the usually reliable Joe Judge on the rear end of a double play figured in the manufacture of one of the allen runs, while a wild pitch by Jones was a big ingredient in another.

Although outhit 9 to 7, with four of the Cleveland bingles, including a triple, coming in the first frame, the Nationals kept plugging away and made things so interesting that most of the fans stayed until the very end.

The start, however, was anything but auspicious and Jones was so ineffective that, if he had any anniversary engagements for the evening, he was excused in plenty of time to keep them for he lasted less than two innings. The Indians started work on him simultaneously with Umpire Hildebrand's instructions to "play ball." Morgan, first up, singled sharply to left and J. Sewell then rolled to Myer, who started what should have been a double play. Morgain was killed at second, but the batter was safe when Judge dropped Bonin's near-perfect peg. This gave the midget third-sacker life and Averill immediately scored him with a triple off the right-field fence. Fonseca's single let Averill register and Falk followed with another before Jones could stop the onslaught. With one out in the second, Miller

St. Louis, Mo., July 26 (A.P.).—The Cardinals came from behind in the sixth and seventh innings today to take a nip-and-tuck battle from the Giants by a 4-to-3 score. Clarence Mitchell pitched the full game for St. Louis, although hit hard at times.

21 D. C. GOLFERS REMAIN IN BALTIMORE TOURNEY

Billy Howell Eliminates Medalist

17-Year-Older Beats T. Sasscer in Upset of Dope.

Leroy Sasscer Lone D. C. Entrant in First Flight.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

MARYLAND COUNTRY CLUB, Baltimore, Md., July 26.—When the smoke of battle, which hung over the course of the Maryland Country Club from early morning until the sun went down this evening, had cleared away, it disclosed a field strewn with the corpses of Washington golfers, although 21 still remain in the competition.

In the semifinal round of the championship flight, which will be played tomorrow morning, there will be only one contestant from the National Capital, the fortunate player being Leroy D. Sasscer, of the Indian Soring Club, who in the morning round defeated his fellow club member, Byrn Curtiss, 2 and 1, and in the afternoon struggle easily disposed of Harris Jones, Rolling Road, by the wide margin of 6 up and 5 to play. Sasscer is now paired against H. A. Wisotzkey, of York, Pa., who played recently in the invitation tournament of the Columbia Country Club.

The two other semifinalists are Alex M. Knapp, Baltimore Country Club, and William Howell, better known as "Billy," of the Hermitage Club, Richmond, Va.

Howell's Victory Sensational.

Howell, a slightly built blonde-haired youngster, who has just passed his seventeenth birthday and who graduated from high school only a few months ago, created the sensation of the tournament by defeating Thomas W Sasscer, former champion of the Maryland club and the winner of medal in the qualification round yesterday. The match between these two was the story of David and Goliath over again, for Sasscer is a veteran of many golfing contests and Howell is a mere stripling, although he has the Virginia State title to his credit.

The youngster, however, took the lead in the very beginning of the match, and never allowed Sasscer to pass him. When it is stated that he played fifteen consecutive holes for a total of one under par, it is not difficult to see that he set a pace with which not even Sasscer could compete. The end came when Sasscer, 1 down on the eighteenth tee, attempted to cut off the dog-leg hole by driving over an intervening forest to reach the green, trees and was out in the fairways on his second shot he gave up the match.

When the match play rounds began this morning there were four Washingtonians in the first flight. Byrn Curtiss lost on the first round but Roger Peacock, Indian Spring, won in the forenoon only to be defeated by Knapp this afternoon. Karl F. Kellerman, jr., Columbia, was the victim of Howell in the first round, although he carried the lad to the nineteenth hole, which he won by taking three putts. Both Curtiss and Kellerman, however, survive in the consolation flight, Kellerman winning this afternoon in a prolonged struggle against Harry A. Parr 3d, Elridge, which went to the twenty-first hole.

It was unfortunate, although the situation was due to the large number of Washington players, that when the matches started this morning there were no less than nine instances in which district golfers were paired against each other. Consequently in the first round nine contestants representing Washington clubs were compelled to drop by the wayside.

The matches resulted as follows:

FIRST SIXTEEN.

Leroy D. Sasscer (Indian Spring), defeated Byrn Curtiss (Indian Spring) 2 and 1.

SECOND SIXTEEN.

J. B. Murphy (Columbia) defeated Elliott Spicer (Indian Spring), up.

SEVENTH SIXTEEN.

Perry B. Hoover (Indian Spring), defeated Edmund L. Jones (Columbia), 4 and 2. W. M. Kochenderfer (Columbia), defeated W. E. Carey, sr., 4 and 3.

Several of the Washington players were compelled to play extra holes. E. M. McClelland, Manor, won on the nineteenth green from Lester W. McCrae, Rolling Road, while D. L. Thomson, Manor, lost on the 20th hole in his match against G. J. Campnell, Maryland Country Club, when he drove his ball out of bounds.

Albert R. Mckenzie, Columbia, who qualified yesterday in the second sixteen, had a close match against Commander J. B. Pollard, Naval Academy, for the latter won by the narrow margin of one up, due to three putts by Mackenzie on the seventeenth green, the contest being all square until this mishap occurred.

The outcome of the day so far as the Washington players were concerned is as follows:

FIRST SIXTEEN.

L. D. Sasscer (Indian Spring), Consolation—Byrn Curtiss (Indian Spring), defeated F. Kellerman (Columbia). J. Logan Hopkins (Washington Golf and Country), Elliott Spicer (Indian Spring).

THIRD SIXTEEN.

CONSIDINE DEFEATS STAUBLY TO GAIN SEMIFINALS

G. W. Players In Feature Match

Mitchell Advances to Finals by Defeating O'Neill, 7-5, 6-4.

Public Parks Doubles Scheduled Today at Henry Park.

BOB CONSIDINE of George Washington University, the defending champion, carried his fight for retention of the Washington public parks tennis singles championship to the semifinal round of the current titular tournament yesterday by defeating Alan Staubly, also of the G street institution, in a hard fought match on the Monument Grounds courts. At the same time, Dooley Mitchell, champion in 1926-1927, reached the finals by eliminating Maurice O'Neill, holder of the title in 1923 and 1924, in the first semifinal duel.

Today Considine faces Frank Shore, District junior champion, in the second semifinal. This match will be staged at Henry Park, Sixth and B streets, northwest, along with the final doubles encounter which brings the defending titleholders, Mitchell and Bill Buchanan, together with O'Neill and George Shoemaker. Action is scheduled to commence at 3 o'clock.

Considine was extended to take his schoolmate into camp by 8—6, 6—4, but Mitchell won rather handily over the veteran O'Neill, 7—5, 6—4.

Staubly Fights To the End.

Staubly offered stubborn resistance throughout and at one time was just a point short of winning a set from the 1928 champion. O'Neill, a southpaw, benefitting from Mitchell's errors, took a 5—4 lead in the first set but saw this quickly wiped out as Mitchell regained form.

Driving to Considine's backhand, Staubly amassed a 5—3 lead in games and needed but one point to grab the first set but he served a double fault at this stage and fell victim to Considine's canny placements which enabled the defending champion to pull out of a bad hole.

Games went with service until the thirteenth when Staubly lost control of his forehand and Considine broke through to a 7-6 advantage. The ultimate winner then romped through the fourteenth to take the set, walloping a placement into the corner for the last point.

Considine held the upper hand almost entirely through the second chapter, catching up with his foe in the second game and going into a lead he never relinquished. He smashed Staubly's delivery in the third game and again in the seventh, and, after dropping the eighth and ninth, took his service in the tenth for the match victory.

Mitchell Erratic In Early Stages.

Mitchell was erratic during the early stages with O'Neill and fell behind due to his own mistakes, but he tied the count at 2—2 in games and later at 5—5 in the first set following O'Neill's best showing of the match and then climbed on top to stay.

In the second set Mitchell drew O'Neill to the net with short returns but, strangely enough, worked this situation to his advantage. He not only handled the veteran's attempted kills but whipped over stunning forehand drives which found O'Neill out of position for easy placements.

With the game count 5—3 in the second set against him, O'Neill strove desperately to snatch victory from defeat and captured the ninth game on his own service despite being passed twice. He was unequal to the task of breaking Mitchell's delivery in the succeeding game, however, and the youngster got home with hot drives to the baselines.

Mitchell Faces Opportunity To Gain Two Titles.

If Mitchell wins with his partner in the doubles final today he will have a chance to gain both singles and doubles crowns for 1929, as he will meet the winner of today's Considine-Shore singles semifinal in the final clash tomorrow. Tomorrow's match will be held at the Rock Creek Park layout, Sixteenth and Kennedy streets northwest.

Considine is generally picked by the experts to subdue young Shore, but in the event he succeeds there he will hold no better than an even chance against Mitchell, according to the wise boys.

The dope favors Mitchell and Buchanan to win the doubles championship for the second straight year. Their murderous net smashes are believed to give them the edge over O'Neill and Shoemaker.

The winners of both divisions of the tournament will be sent to the national public parks championships at Buffalo August 19-24.

WOMEN SEEK D. C. NET TITLE

Entries Close Today With 40 Expected to Compete.

AT least 40 entries are expected for the District Women's Tennis Championship tournament which starts Monday on the courts of the Columbia Country Club and for which entries close today at 4 o'clock.

These two score of fair racquet wielders represents the most cosmopolitan group ever to seek the title now held by Frances Krucoff. Among the entries filed last night was that of Nena Guevara, a native of the Philippine Islands, who is visiting here. Her entrance marks the first time that the Pacific Islands have been represented in a District women's tennis championship tournament.

Although Miss Guevara modestly disclaimed any claim to prowess with the racquet, friends indicated that she has played the game for several years and is rated among the most capable performers of her home club.

Misses Dunham, Walker Will Seek Title Here.

Miss Guevara's entry brought the total number of outside competitors nigh the half score mark. Announcement was made last night that both Josephine Dunham and Frances Walker, who are playing at White Sulphur Springs in the West Virginia championships, will report in time for play Monday. These two stars are to meet in the semifinals of the West Virginia tourney today.

Mrs. H. Clay Thompson, chairman of the committee in charge, was last night awaiting the entries expected from several of the leading feminine stars of Baltimore. Marywill Wakeford, former District champion, now of Macon, Ga., and Doris Ferry, of Chicago, are among the prominent visiting stars previously entered.

Drawing Will Be Made At 6 P. M. Today.

Thirty-five entries had been received by Mrs. Thompson up until a late hour last night and several prominent contenders, who have announced their intentions to compete but who have not yet made formal entry are expected to do so today.

The drawings will be made today at 6 o'clock and made public tomorrow. Doubles entries will not close until Tuesday. But few have been filed as yet.

Cubs Setting Record As Turnstiles Click

Chicago, July 26 (A.P.).—At the rate the Cubs are coaxing customers through the turnstiles at Wrigley Field, a new National League attendance record may be set this season.

The total home attendance to date is nearly 775,000, about 150,000 ahead of their best previous year, 1927, at the same stage of the race. The National League mark of approximately 1,200,000 was set by the Cubs in 1929.

MILLER HOLDS NATS AS TRIBE WINS, 4-2

singled to left and went all the way to third when Ruel was slow running down a wild pitch. When Morgan's one-baser scored the Tribe flinger, Jones gave way to Hadley, who hit J. Sewell, but then settled down and turned in a good job until he gave way to a pinch-hiter in the ninth. He was never in hot water but once and then was unfortunate enough to see a run molded with the need of but one hit and that a single.

This happened in the fifth when, with one down, he issued his only pass of the game, Averill coaxing it. The runner advanced on Fonseca's out, on which Hadley deflected the ball straight into Myer's hands, and Falk's one-shot to right.

Miller, who is enjoying his best year in the majors, was in trouble only twice, and the Nationals were able to cash in on but one of these occasions. Rice pried the top off of the home fourth with a double and scored when Goslin followed suit. After Myer pop-fouled trying to sacrifice, the Goose moved to third on West's infield single and registered on Cronin's long sacrifice fly.

Goslin and Myer Fail in Pinch.

The alien fork-hander then hit his stride again and pitched air-tight ball until the eighth, when Charley Gooch, up for Hadley, came through as a pinch-hitter for his second consecutive game. After Judge flied to Fonseca, Gooch advanced to second on Rice's single. With the tying runs on the bases, the best Goslin could do was to move the runners up on an infield out, while both were left when Gardner threw out Myer. This was the last Washington hope, for it was a case of three up and three down in the final frame.

Rice, with two hits, including a double, led the home attack, with Averill and Falk dividing honors for the visitors, Rice, Myer, West and Averill contributed the fielding features of the contest.

Fire Destroys Stands At Staunton Ball Park

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., July 26.—Fire early tonight completely destroyed the grand stand on the grounds used by the Staunton club of the Augusta County Baseball League. The loss is placed at $600, partly covered by insurance. The stand will be rebuilt at once. Origin of the fire is not definitely known but it is thought it was started from a cigarette dropped by an occupant of the stand who was watching the local team practice. Only one or two persons were on the grounds when the flames were discovered. Their efforts to check them were unavailing.

FRANCE CAN CLINCH NET VICTORY TODAY

where he wanted it, driving Borotra away from the forecourt and tantalizing him with slow balls that floated low into the back court and put an end to the bounding of the bounding Basque.

Tilden Suffers Worst Davis Cup Defeat.

When he had upset Borotra sufficiently with rangy lobs and drowsily moving forehand shots, Lott changed his pace with crisp placements and drew Borotra into errors. He captured the second set and then went on level terms with the Frenchman to four games, all in the third set.

Borotra won the ninth game on his own service, and then came the break that decided the winner. In the tenth game Lott dropped two lobs on the baseline and both were called out, although many of the spectators thought they were in and Lott himself seemed to feel sure that at least one of them had been. On the next play Borotra hit the American's baseline with a lob and the ball was judged in.

Thus three points on close decisions all went against Lott and with them went his service and the set, giving Borotra a lead of two sets to one. The last set was a fine struggle, in which Lott gained a lead of five games to three and threatened to tie the score in sets. Borotra then began bounding again, took chances and forced the pace. He ran through four games with the loss of but six points, finishing off his victory by breaknig through Lott's service to wind up with a love game and give France a firmer hold than ever upon the trophy he helped win from America two years ago.

PEGLER SAYS FOULING CONVENIENT AT TIMES

Irish Johnny Curtin, who strove for the same result the other way around. Mr. Curtin did not foul very often, but he generally claimed two or three in a fifteen-round contest. Under the law of averages he got away with many such claims. It was quite touching to hear the customers yelling their tribute to Mr. Curtin as he walked down the aisle of an evening, "Foul, Johnny! Foul!"

There is some sense of relief at the elimination of Mr. Dundee, even at the cost of $50,000. The customers doubtless look to Mr. Fields for a sporting administration as champion and there is something pathetic about this naive wistfulness after so many betrayals.

They are so eager to let bygones be bygones and they look always to the future with such beautiful confidence that it seems rather brutal to mention Al McCoy, Johnny Wilson, Michael McTigue, Mickey Walker, Charley Phil Rosenberg and Johnny Kilbane, whose conduct in office so badly resembled that of politicians after election. I may be pessimistic, but I have learned to expect nothing but the worst from new champions. This is no joyous way of thinking, but at least I am seldom disappointed.

THE DOUBLE

By EDGAR WALLACE

SYNOPSIS.

Dick Staines, department inspector, happens upon mysterious intruders in the deserted house of Walter Derrick, jovial neighbor of Tommy Weald, whom Dick is visiting. One of them, a woman, bears a striking resemblance to beautiful Mary Dane, whom Dick secretly admires. When Lordy Brown, escaped convict from Africa, attacks Mary, insisting that she is Mary Devilliers, of Cape Town, Dick concludes that the girl has a dangerous double who is involved in the Derrick mystery. And then one night Dick finds Lordy Brown dead in Derrick's house, and again the thumbprint of the baffling Slough murderer the despair of the police for ten long years is seen. Derrick is distraught at the tragedy, but laughs at his caretaker's suggestion of a ghost. Dick decides that there is a secret passage in the old home.

"No," was the reply: "who is she?"

For a moment Dick was too dumbfounded to speak.

"Miss Belfer was a friend of your father's."

There was a long pause.

"I don't know her by that name."

"She occupied the old house of yours."

"Oh, yes, yes. Did she? I forget."

Either he could not or would not talk on the matter, for immediately he changed the subject.

"Secret passages, eh? That's in your line, isn't it?"

"It's very much out of my line," said Dick. "Though there's a very simple explanation for it. The two houses were at one time in the possession of a religious order, and I found this morning that in 1845 they received permission from the board of works to tunnel between the two houses. There was no secret about it, only the fact seems to have been forgotten. And there's nothing mysterious, either, about the secret stairway; that is in the borough architect's records. Your father had it made as an additional fire passage."

He had sent two men to make inquiries at Somerset House and to search the local registers, without hoping that he could gain an definite knowledge about Miss Belfer. They did not come back to Lowndes Square, and he found them waiting for him at Scotland Yard when he went there. Their search had produced an important piece of evidence: no less than the marriage license at a North London noncomformist chapel of old man Derrick and "Martha Ann Belfer." It had been a secret marriage in every sense of the word. The old man in his selfish way had insisted upon separate establishments and had maintained his mystery for thirteen years.

Derrick had left the hotel when Dick called up, but two hours later he saw his big yellow car sweep up to the door, and Derrick himself hoisted himself out of the driver's seat.

"Well, they seem to be using my house as they like! I'm almost inclined to come back. I'm entitled to a little of the fun, as I'm paying most of the damages," he chuckled. "What's the latest news? Has the ghost been seen? Have you found the beautiful young lady or the masked miscreant? By gad, it sounds like something out of a thriller!"

"I've found Miss Belfer."

"Now, who the devil is Miss Belfer? You mentioned her before," said Derrick wonderingly, as Dick led him into the dining room, where he did most of his work.

"Probably she had some other name. She was the lady over whom you quarreled with your father—the second Mrs. Derrick."

Derrick's jaw dropped.

"Did he marry her? Are there any children?" he asked quickly.

Dick shook his head.

"None."

"Miss Belfer? That is what she called herself? I used to call her Miss—Constable. Queer, he married her. Have you got all the—er—proofs?"

Dick had them on the table and showed him the copies of the certificate. He read them intently, marking each word he deciphered with a quick downward jerk of his eyelids.

"Well, well—the old dog—so he married her!"

He had said this three or four times.

"And no children." He drew a long breath. "That's queer. Of course, I knew all about it, but imagined that it was just—friendship. I had rather a row with him about it—and money, and a few things like that. You're sure there are no children?"

Dick laughed.

"As far as it is humanly possible to judge, there was none. There is no record in the register, and a local inspector who knew your father——"

"Who is he?" asked Derrick, and when Dick told him: "Yes, I seem to remember the name. He said there were no children either, eh? Well, well! Mystery on mystery!"

He was speaking quickly, like a man who was thinking of something entirely different.

"What happened last night? Who was that girl? You didn't catch her? I should have thought you'd have managed to put a stop to her activities, at any rate."

"She went down the wall stairway."

Derrick nodded.

"I've come to look at that. I shan't be able to sleep in the house again. Where's your idiotic pal?"

That grated a little.

"The number of my idiotic friends is rather limited, and I ought to recognize him instantly. Whom do you mean?"

"I mean Tommy Weald. He's running after a nurse, they tell me. Stupid fool! Married today and divorced tomorrow."

And then, without a change of tone or the slightest pause to indicate that he turned the subject:

"Constable—that's what I used to call her, Miss Constable. Not an unfamiliar name to a policeman, eh?"

Dick said nothing, and presently Derrick was discussing his future plans.

"I really am going abroad, and I'm giving these devils permission to find the gold if they can! I think I'll leave a notice in the house that so long as they leave me 10 per cent of their findings they can get away with the rest! That's a sporting offer that would make my poor old father turn in his grave! Gold! The only gold in that house is on the picture frames!"

"You were in South Africa for some time; did you ever meet a Miss Devilliers?"

Derrick pursed his lips thoughtfully.

"I don't know—there are lots of Devilliers scattered up and down the colony. I wasn't there very long. I broke north along the Tuli River, then north again to Victoria and east toward Tanganyika. Any more thumbprints?" he asked, his eyes twinkling.

Dick shook his head.

"I don't think there will be any more. At any rate, we're not giving them very much attention. Bourke and I have agreed that the thumbprints were put there by means of a stamp—a senseless sort of scheme."

"A stamp? A rubber stamp?" Derrick drew a long breath. "How damned ingenious! A rubber stamp, eh? I wonder if it is anything to do with my father's collection. That idea just struck me. Perhaps our friend thinks that there are still a number of fingerprints in the house, including his. That may be what they're searching for, and not the gold."

Dick shook his head.

"In that case," he said dryly, "they would not be advertising the fact by leaving the Slough murderer's thumbprint behind. Have you had any burglaries at Keyley?"

"None," said Derrick. "When I am away from this infernal house I am not troubled."

He went off to look at the staircase and came back rather disappointed.

"It isn't half as spooky as I thought it was," he said. "Of course, you will have a policeman in the garden or block up the tunnel?"

"Naturally," said Dick; "our little visitor will not come that way again. Hullo! Where have you sprung from?"

Derrick turned round as Tommy Weald came violently into the room. Tommy did everything in a great hurry and gave the impression that he had less than two minutes to spare.

"Shirts, old boy," he said rapidly. "I'm not staying to lunch. Hope you are comfortable. Hullo, Derrick! They tell me your pals have been giving your house a good look-over!"

"How is the fiancee?" asked Derrick blandly.

Tommy had the grace to blush.

"Well," he said awkwardly, "Miss—um—Dane is very well indeed. Extraordinarily well considering the weather. Thank you very kindly for inquiring."

He coughed embarrassedly, shot a sideways glance at Dick, and asked:

"Where did you hear the joyful tidings?"

"I read it in the newspaper," said Derrick, to Dick Staines' astonishment.

"Have you announced it?" he asked, so fiercely that Tommy shrank back.

"Of course I have!" he said defiantly. "And why the dickens shouldn't I? Mary doesn't mind, I don't mind, and my aunts are delighted."

Dick could only look at him in pained wonder.

"Then it is fixed?" he said a little huskily.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA ATTORNEYS ASK LAW REFORMS

Bar Association Prepares Bills for Six Changes in State Code.

ALTER CIVIL STATUTES

Hot Springs, Va., July 26 (A.P.).—Six proposed legislative bills have been prepared by the committee on legislation and law reform of the Virginia State Bar Association for presentation to the convention at its annual meeting here next Wednesday. The committee will also make certain recommendations relative to the payment of inheritance tax.

The changes in existing law sought by the bills are more or less technical but are of interest to business men as well as members of the legal profession. The first of the six bills would change Section 6256 of the Code to provide that a party shall not be allowed a non-suit unless he shall have first requested grounds of defense and after the filing of same and before the impaneling of the jury, moved the court therefor.

The second of the proposed measures relate to the bulk sales act, and would change Section 5187 of the Code by providing a method by which creditors can obtain money from the sales. The bill will be that of the proposed uniform bulk sales law prepared by the National Association of Credit Men. The substantial change in the Virginia law would be that the transferee of the stock of goods must see to the distribution of the purchase price among the transferor's creditors, or in the event that can not be done, an arrangement is provided for paying the money to the general receiver of the court.

Measure Already Considered.

The judicial council of Virginia has already considered the bulk sales measure and if it presents a measure at the meeting here, that prepared by the committee on legislation and law reform will be withdrawn.

Another measure to be presented by the committee would amend Section 6012 of the Code to provide that parties desiring jury trial in civil cases shall file a request therefor in writing accompanied by the deposit with the clerk of a jury fee, to be applied toward the expense of such trials, the fee thus deposited to be recovered by the party depositing same in the event he prevails. Provision is made for parties unable to make the deposit.

This change in the law, in the opinion of the committee, will result in considerable saving in the communities, expedition of the court's business and in considerable curtailment of jury service by citizens.

Contractors performing construction and improvement work for the State or any of its political subdivisions would execute bonds to secure material, men and subcontractors under another proposed bill. The committee says that the State highway department is the only agency of the State at present requiring such bonds.

Would Remove Confusion.

The fifth proposed bill would change section 5201 of the Code by removing confusion caused by the words "of record," the last two words in the section.

The last of these measures would amend section 6251 of the Code so as to allow the court to enter judgment in a civil case in which the jury hangs when the evidence was insufficient to support a verdict in a civil action against a party thereto.

The specific recommendation in regard to the inheritance tax will be that the State Tax Commission be requested to change the present method of requiring payment of the inheritance tax due by a life tenant or life annuitant, and to provide in lieu thereof that such tax shall be paid out of the corpus of the life estate, but that the life tenant or annuitant be required to pay back each year into the corpus that proportionate part of the life tenant's tax that is equal to the ratio between one year and the total number of years of the life tenant's expectancy.

The committee on legislation and law reform will also suggest to the bar association that a special committee be named to study and report to the association the advisability of substituting in the place of the general verdict in civil cases the modified special verdict such as is now in use in Wisconsin, Texas and North Carolina.

MOTHER OF MISSING BOY NEARLY FRANTIC

Silence Veils Whereabouts of Dabney Trice, 15, Who Left Ten Days Ago.

TRAIL LOST IN CAPITAL

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 26.—Mrs. D. M. Trice, of Monticello road, is nearly frantic over failure to receive any word from her 15-year old son, Dabney M. Trice, who disappeared from home ten days ago.

Young Trice, a pupil in the third year at Lane High School last session, had been attending the vacation school this summer to make up one unit he lacked to enter his final year in September, his purpose being to finish his course next session and enter the University of Virginia the following year.

Tuesday afternoon of last week he went to his home, rather fatigued after a baseball game, and was reproached by his mother, on complaint of a woman in the neighborhood, for some minor offense. In a huff, the lad proceeded to pack his clothes and, kissing his mother good-by, said that he was going away for good. Despite protestations he rushed out of the door while the parent was in the act of phoning to a friend, and that is the last she saw of him.

Inquiries developed the fact that the lad took a Southern Railway train for Washington. On the way to the depot, it is understood, he met a school mate. "I am leaving to join the Navy," he said. From a Washington paper Mrs. Trice learned that her son made application to enlist at Navy and Marine recruiting stations, but was turned down in both instances.

All efforts by Mrs. Trice to get any word from the missing youth have failed completely. News of his disappearance has been broadcast, but she has not received any information.

Though only 15 years of age, young Trice may easily pass for older. He is nearly 6 feet tall, is well set up and athletic. He has a rosy complexion, dark blue eyes and wavy dark hair. When he left home he was attired in a pair of dark knickers and a blue sweater. He wore no hat. He took with him in his grip a neat gray suit with long trousers, which he has evidently donned in order to present a more manly appearance.

Mother Is Frantic.

The mother, widow of Dr. Dabney M. Trice, well-known physician, who for years conducted the Mooresbrook Sanatorium, near Monticello, is almost crazed from grief over the boy's disappearance, and has had little sleep since her only child left. "I want my boy to know of my great desire to have him home again," she declared in desperation today. "I want him to feel that all is forgiven and that no blame of any sort attaches to any conduct of his."

Mrs. Trice believes that Army or Navy life has attracted the lad, to neither of which would she object, she said, if he were started in a way proper for his comfort and advancement. She has asked that the boy wire her, collect, of his whereabouts.

VIRGINIA TOBACCO GROWERS HOPEFUL

Prices on Georgia Crop Is Reported Higher Than Last Year.

CROP IS HELD INFERIOR

Danville, Va., July 26.—Tobacco farmers throughout the Old Belt have reacted swiftly to the opening of the new marketing season in Georgia, where have been given the first price indices of the year. A greater measure of optimism is permeating farmers and merchants with the reports from tobacco men that the price level in Georgia is fully 25 per cent higher than last year with this year's crop inferior to that of 1928.

Corresponding price increases are expected in the higher belts and farmers are discussing among themselves the likelihood of the best season for many years, provided always they are not victims of some elemental visitation such as drought or excessive rain and hail as the growing leaf reaches maturity.

Tobacco warehousemen who have contacts in Georgia say that quality of tobacco is not always the gauge of prices. The law of supply and demand is considered ruling and high prices are taken here to mean that the big manufacturing companies sense a shortage of leaf for the staggering output of cigarettes and for that reason are avid buyers of even mediocre tobacco types.

Samples of leaf from South Carolina, in which region the season opens next Tuesday, have been received here and have amazed local tobacco people. The color is good and even and the body is just right for cigarettes. South Carolina farmers report that this is their best crop in fifteen years.

Danville tobacco men are leaving daily to take posts in South Carolina. By the time that belt has been sold out it will be time to open the tobacco season in Danville, October 2.

WILL REDUCE CURVES

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., July 26.—The Cumberland Contracting Co. submitted the lowest bid to the State Roads Commission for a contract to improve the national highway at Sideling Hill, the longest of the mountains between Cumberland and Hagerstown about 7 miles west of Hancock.

The contract calls for the elimination of certain sharp curves, especially on the west side of the mountain by relocating the roadbed together with the requisite drainage. About 40,000 cubic yards of excavation is involved and the major portion of the work will be done with steam shovels. This work of excavation and drainage is to be done before early winter and is in preparation for the shouldering of the highway with concrete.

Next to Polish Mountain, the second mountain east of Cumberland, with its tortuous curves, the Sideling Hill job will be the most important. The concrete shouldering on these mountains will not be completed until next year in order to give the new road bed to be made at many points time to settle.

In the meantime concrete shoulders are being poured at many points on the national highway between Martin's Mountain, about 8 miles east of Cumberland and Conococheague Creek in the plan to have the highway completely shouldered between Cumberland and Baltimore.

Rapid progress has been made in the work on the east side of Martin's Mountain. Concrete shoulders were laid on the west side of Martin's Mountain into Cumberland several years ago.

Coan River Association Ships 50,000 Crates This Year.

Special to The Washington Post.

Heathsville, Va., July 26.—The Coan River Tomato Association has shipped approximately 50,000 crates of tomatoes. Association tomatoes have sold all the way from $1.75 to $3 per crate for fancy, and the lower grades at reduced prices. Independent growers, who represent about 60 per cent of this season's crop, have sold at a price range of from 60 cents to $1 per crate. Prices were considerably lower last week, the association receiving only $1.75 for fancy stock, and independent growers 60 cents per crate.

The fruit is of inferior grade this season, but the crop is by no means exhausted yet. The "second early" crop is about ready for picking and the late crop will follow shortly. The early crop will net the growers at least $100,000, besides giving employment to many people.

Denver Correct Spelling, Virginia Tomb Reveals

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 26.—Graveyard records here have been used to assist the city of Denver, Colo., in determining the correct spelling of the name of the noted soldier for whom the capital of the centennial State was named many years ago.

The Rev. Father Thomas B. Martin, rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart, received a letter from the United States Geographic Board in Washington, which had been appealed to by authorities of Denver, who said some insisted that "Denvir" was correct. Patrick Denver, grandfather of Gen. Patrick Denver, died here March 31, 1831, aged 85 years, and the name is spelled "Denver" on his tombstone in the Catholic Cemetery.

LAUREL RESIDENTS FIGHT PAVING COST

Judge Rules Mayor and Council Must Show Cause for Sending Bills.

CHURCH DISPUTE AIRED

Residents of Laurel, Md., have filed suits in the Prince Georges County Circuit Court questioning the validity of a town ordinance which compels property owners to keep the sidewalks in front of their property in good repair and permits the town to repair sidewalks and charge the cost to the abutting property owners.

Mayor John P. Curley and the common council members are named defendants in the suits which will be heard August 5, by Judge Joseph C. Mattingly.

Everard E. Hatch, who claims that a 300-foot brick sidewalk on Prince Georges street, which he has been ordered to have replaced with cement, is in good condition, has asked for a temporary injunction restraining town officials from tearing up the brick sidewalk. The judge issued a rule to show cause returnable August 5.

Miss Alice Hopkins asks that a bill for $76.27, which has been assessed as a tax lien against her property, be rendered void and that a writ of subpena be issued against the mayor and common council. She declares that she refused to replace her brick sidewalk, which stretches for about 82 feet on Montgomery street, with cement and that the town officials tore up the sidewalk and laid a concrete walk, sending her a bill.

A similar complaint filed by Frank W. Awalt, through Attorney S. Marvin Peach, was heard last week by Judge Mattingly, but no decision has been rendered as yet. Hatch and Miss Hopkins are represented by Attorneys D. Randall and A. Levene.

The Bible was harkened back to in Prince Georges County Circuit Court yesterday when two colored congregations appeared before Judge Joseph C. Mattingly to settle their dispute. A copy of the Bible was hurriedly obtained and placed on the counsel table with other law books when the Rev. George McGowens, pastor, with Charles W. Coates and Vincent Brown, trustees of the Zion Baptist Church, of Mellwood district, declared that their incorporation of the church was provided for in the Bible.

They pointed to the verse which said: "Where two or three are gathered together in My name, I am in their midst," as substantiating a God-given right to worship in their own church. They charged that the Rev. John Broadus, pastor of another church from which they had separated, had been harassing their services, stirring up strife and had threatened to sell the church furniture, including the organ. They asked that the officials of the other church be restrained from interfering with their church property.

The Rev. Broadus admitted that he and James L. Garnett, trustee of the church, had sold some of the property in the Zion Church, but claimed that it belonged to his congregation. State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer represented the Zion Church, and the Rev. Broadus was represented by A. R. Hassell. Decision was withheld by Judge Mattingly.
